Teachtaireacht ó Uachtarán Chumann Lúthchleas Gael

On behalf of the GAA I sincerely welcome the publication of these Guidance for Dealing & Reporting Allegations or Concerns of Abuse. This, the fifth Edition of the guidelines, underlines our aim to provide a safe environment for children who participate in our Games and associated activities.

Our steadfast commitment to uphold best practice in our work, with and on behalf of children and young people, is clearly outlined in our joint Code of Behaviour (Underage).

While these Guidance for Dealing & Reporting Allegations or Concerns of Abuse primarily deal with allegations or concerns of abuse that may occur when children are involved in Association activities we are fully aware of our moral and legal responsibilities to uphold best practice in our work, in all jurisdictions where the Association operates.

We recognise that the Association has a direct responsibility to take action to avoid a child being a victim of any form of abuse while engaged in Association activities and to take appropriate action where allegations or suspicions of such abuse arise. We wish to ensure that, even where no such direct responsibility arises, mentors, coaches and other GAA personnel are familiar with the procedures that we have put in place for the protection of victims of child abuse.

Our basic objective is to prevent situations arising where children could be at risk of any forms of abuse when engaged in Association activities. Our policy provides for the training of Designated Liaison Persons at various levels of the Association who will be responsible for dealing with any concerns about the protection of children and for reporting allegations or suspicions of child abuse to the relevant statutory authorities and to the GAA National Designated Liaison Person.

This work will be supported by the various structures of the Association and in particular by our National Child Safeguarding Committee and by our National Children's Office.

I wish to thank the numerous people from statutory authorities, from child welfare agencies and from the various sections of the GAA for assisting us in this key aspect of our core responsibilities. On behalf of the thousands of children who participate in our Games and activities, and on behalf of their families may I extend a Míle Buíochas to you all as we strive to ensure the welfare and protection of all children in the Association.

Child: For the purpose of these Guidelines a Child is any person under the age of 18 years¹

Child Welfare and Protection: In seeking to ensure the general welfare and protection of children and young people in the GAA, the Association shall safeguard and promote the interests and wellbeing of all those under 18 years of age who are involved in its games and other related activities.

Various units of the Association are referred to throughout these Guidelines including Clubs, County Boards, Provincial Councils and National Committees.

¹ The interpretation of a child as used throughout these Guidelines. The Children (Northern Ireland) Order 1995 and the Protection of Children and Vulnerable Adults (NI) Order 2003 define a child as a person under 18 years of age while the Child Care Act 1991 (ROI) and Children First, National Guidelines for the Protection and Welfare of Children defines a child as any person under 18 years other than a person who is or has been married.

A debarment decision, once communicated, comes into effect immediately and remains in effect until removed and until the person against whom the debarment decision has been made is duly informed of such a removal or a reversal of such decision. A debarment decision shall be communicated by the County or National Designated Liaison Person or by the NCSC. - Following notifications of prosecutions and/or convictions or confirmed information of a confidential nature the NCSC shall take all actions deemed necessary against members and non-members, in line with the Committee's responsibilities as outlined in the GAA Guidance for Dealing & Reporting Allegations or Concerns of Abuse. Actions taken by the Committee are based on the paramountancy of care principle that ensures that the welfare of the child shall be its guiding principle. The levels of actions taken by the NCSC shall be commensurate and appropriate with the breaches of rules and guidelines and with the seriousness of the allegations as made.
- Apprise the statutory authorities on allegations received which are supported by reasonable grounds for concern, and shall also liaise with these authorities while such matters are considered within the Association. (The role of the NCSC is fully outlined in Section 7 of this booklet)

Statutory Authorities: The authorities who promote the welfare and protection of children and who in cases of alleged abuse of children have the responsibility to investigate all such allegations. In the Republic of Ireland the statutory authorities are An Garda Síochána and the Health Service Executive while it is the PSNI and the Department of Health Social Services and Public Safety (DHSSPS) who have a similar role in Antrim, Armagh, Derry, Down, Fermanagh and Tyrone. The DHSSPS however do not investigate individual cases. These investigations are carried out by the relevant Health and Social Care Trusts

Vulnerable Adult: A vulnerable, as referred to in these Guidelines, is an adult who is aged 18 years or over who is or may or may be in need of community care services by reasons of mental health or other disability, age or illness and is or may be unable to take care of him or herself, or unable to protect him or herself against significant harm or exploitation. In so far as these Guidelines refer to children they equally apply to vulnerable adults.

Young Person: The terms young person and young people are frequently used throughout these Guidelines. These terms, in common with the legal definition of a child, also refer to any person under the age of 18 years

CATEGORIES AND DEFINITION OF CHILD ABUSE

Child abuse has generally been defined into four main categories:

Neglect, Emotional Abuse, Physical Abuse and Sexual Abuse. A child may at any given time be subjected to more than one form of abuse.

4.1 Neglect

Neglect occurs when a child does not receive adequate care or supervision to the extent that the child is harmed physically or developmentally. It is generally defined in terms of an omission of care, where a child's health, development or welfare is impaired by being deprived of food, clothing, warmth, hygiene, medical care, intellectual stimulation or supervision and safety. Emotional neglect may also lead to the child having attachment difficulties. The extent of the damage to the child's health, development or welfare is influenced by a range of factors. These factors include the extent, if any, of positive influence in the child's life as well as the age of the child and the frequency and consistency of neglect.

A reasonable concern for the child's welfare would exist when neglect becomes typical of the relationship between the child and the parent or carer

The following are features of child neglect:

- Children being left alone without adequate care and supervision
- Malnourishment, lacking food, unsuitable food or erratic feeding
- Non-organic failure to thrive, i.e. a child not gaining weight due not only to malnutrition but also emotional deprivation
- Failure to provide adequate care for the child's medical and developmental needs, including intellectual stimulation
- Inadequate living conditions – unhygienic conditions, environmental issues, including lack of adequate heating and furniture
- Lack of adequate clothing
- Inattention to basic hygiene
- Lack of protection and exposure to danger, including moral danger, or lack of supervision appropriate to the child's age

- Persistent failure to attend school
- Abandonment or desertion

Possible examples of Neglect in a Sports context

- Consistent lack of adequate supervision
- Exposing a player to undue cold, heat or injury
- Exposure to risk or injury during games and/or at training
- Lack of necessary re-hydration fluids

4.2. Emotional Abuse

Emotional abuse is the systematic emotional or psychological ill-treatment of a child as part of the overall relationship between a caregiver and a child. Once-off and occasional difficulties between a parent/carer and child are not considered emotional abuse. Abuse occurs when a child's basic need for attention, affection, approval, consistency and security are not met, due to incapacity or indifference from their parent or caregiver. Emotional abuse can also occur when adults responsible for taking care of children are unaware of and unable (for a range of reasons) to meet their children's emotional and developmental needs. Emotional abuse is not easy to recognise because the effects are not easily seen.

A reasonable concern for the child's welfare would exist when the behaviour becomes typical of the relationship between the child and the parent or carer.

Emotional abuse may be seen in some of the following ways:

- Rejection Lack of comfort and love
- Lack of attachment Lack of proper stimulation (e.g. fun and play)
- Lack of continuity of care (e.g. frequent moves, particularly unplanned)
- Continuous lack of praise and encouragement
- Persistent criticism, sarcasm, hostility or blaming of the child
- Bullying
- Conditional parenting in which care or affection of a child depends on his or her behaviours or actions Extreme overprotectiveness

- Inappropriate non-physical punishment (e.g. locking child in bedroom)
- Ongoing family conflicts and family violence
- Seriously inappropriate expectations of a child relative to his/her age and stage of development

Possible example of Emotional Abuse in a Sports context

- Persistent criticism and negative comments by coaches, parents or mentors of young players
- Seeking unrealistic expectations of a young player beyond their capabilities or age
- Promoting a win only ethic in the coaching and playing of our Games
- Downplaying a player's attempts at skill improvement
- Use of un-realistic or harsh disciplinary

▪ 4.3 Physical Abuse

Physical abuse is when someone deliberately hurts a child physically or puts them at risk of being physically hurt. It may occur as a single incident or as a pattern of incidents. A reasonable concern exists where the child's health and/ or development is, may be, or has been damaged as a result of suspected physical abuse.

A reasonable concern exists where the child's health and/or development is, may be or has been damaged as a result of suspected physical abuse.

Physical abuse can include the following:

- Physical punishment
- Beating, slapping, hitting or kicking
- Pushing, shaking or throwing
- Pinching, biting, choking or hair-pulling
- Use of excessive force in handling
- Deliberate poisoning
- Suffocation
- Fabricated/induced illness

- Female genital mutilation

The Children First Act 2015 includes a provision that abolishes the common law defence of reasonable chastisement in court proceedings. This defence could previously be invoked by a parent or other person in authority who physically disciplined a child. The change in the legislation now means that in prosecutions relating to assault or physical cruelty, a person who administers such punishment to a child cannot rely on the defence of reasonable chastisement in the legal proceedings. The result of this is that the protections in law relating to assault now apply to a child in the same way as they do to an adult.

Possible examples of Physical Abuse in a Sports context

- Excessive training regimes which disregards a child's physical capacity or level of development to undertake such training or physical endurance
- Over playing, over training or burn out of a player
- Imposition of performance enhancing substances or dietary programmes
- Shaking or hitting a player

4.4 Sexual Abuse

Sexual abuse occurs when a child is used by another person for his or her gratification or arousal, or for that of others. It includes the child being involved in sexual acts (masturbation, fondling, oral or penetrative sex) or exposing the child to sexual activity directly or through pornography.

Examples of child sexual abuse include the following:

- Any sexual act intentionally performed in the presence of a child
- An invitation to sexual touching or intentional touching or molesting of a child's body whether by a person or object for the purpose of sexual arousal or gratification
- Masturbation in the presence of a child or the involvement of a child in an act of masturbation

- Sexual intercourse with a child, whether oral, vaginal or anal Sexual exploitation of a child, which includes
 - Inviting, inducing or coercing a child to engage in prostitution or the production of child pornography [for example, exhibition, modelling or posing for the purpose of sexual arousal, gratification or sexual act, including its recording (on film, videotape or other media) or the manipulation, for those purposes, of an image by computer or other means]
 - Inviting, coercing or inducing a child to participate in, or to observe, any sexual, indecent or obscene act
 - Showing sexually explicit material to children, which is often a feature of the ‘grooming’ process by perpetrators of abuse Exposing a child to inappropriate or abusive material through information and communication technology Consensual sexual activity involving an adult and an underage person

The Criminal Law (Sexual Offences) Act 2006 states that the age of sexual consent is 17 years of age in the Republic of Ireland. The Sexual Offences NI Order 2008 stipulates that the legal age of sexual consent for the six counties of Antrim, Armagh, Derry, Down, Fermanagh and Tyrone is 16 years of age.

The above definitions of child sexual abuse presented here are not necessarily deemed to be legal definitions but are adopted from statutory guidelines that govern our work with children and young people in Sport.

Possible examples of Sexual Abuse in a Sports context

- Intentional touching of a player at training, during coaching or at games in an inappropriate manner
- Exploitation of a child/young person for sexual gratification
- Creating, forwarding or exchanging sexually implicit images or messages of a sexual nature by text or in any other ‘e-communication’ format
- Sexual relationships with a young person or child

4.5 Other forms of Abuse

There are other forms of behaviour that may not be defined as abuse but should cause concern to GAA personnel working with children. The abuse spectrum has been expanded in recent years to cover not just the aforementioned categories but also recognising other examples of abuse that include Bullying, Peer Abuse, Organisational Abuse, Cyber Bullying, E Bullying and different forms of Internet Abuse. While they may not be generally included in the aforementioned categories of abuse it should be noted that in their extreme forms they would all be regarded as abuse.

4.5.1 Bullying

Increased levels of Bullying amongst all age groups and in particular amongst young people is a concern for many sports organisations. GAA clubs have become increasingly aware of the issue of bullying and the detrimental impact it may have on those involved, i.e. victims, perpetrators, families, bystanders and the Association in general. It is vital therefore that all units of the Association are equipped to deal with any instances of bullying and in doing so shall seek to counteract and prevent such unacceptable behaviour occurring or re-occurring.³

What is Bullying? Bullying behaviour can be defined as repeated aggression be it verbal, psychological or physical, conducted by an individual or group against others. The term ‘target’ is used to describe the person or persons that are bullied.

Bullying contains seven key features:

- An intention to be hurtful
- The intention is carried out
- The behaviour harms the target (the person or persons being bullied)
- The bully overwhelms the target with his or her power
- There is often no justification for the action
- The behaviour repeats itself again and again

³ Detailed information on counteracting Bullying may be obtained in Let's Beat Bullying (NYCI 2007)

- The bully derives a sense of satisfaction from hurting the target

There are a number of forms or types of bullying which may take place in a sports context including:

- Direct bullying – where the behaviour is obvious and bystanders are aware of it, e.g. physical or verbal bullying
- Indirect bullying – where the behaviour is more difficult to recognise, e.g. intimidation or isolation
- Verbal bullying – including slandering, ridiculing, slagging, sarcasm, abusive telephone calls, name calling etc.
- Physical bullying- including pushing, striking, shoving, assaults, damage to person's property and theft
- Gesture bullying – including non-verbal gestures/glances which can convey threatening or frightening messages/intent
- E-bullying/Cyber-bullying – using web pages, emails, text etc. to abuse, intimidate and attack others, either directly or indirectly
- Relational bullying – behaviour which sets out to deliberately damage another person's friendship or feelings of inclusion in a friendship group, e.g. exclusion, isolation etc.
- Extortion – the deliberate extortion of money or other items of property accompanied by threats
- Homophobic bullying – bullying that is typically aimed at young people who are or who are perceived to be gay, lesbian or bisexual. It can include name calling, isolation and violence
- Racial bullying – can be expressed physically, socially or psychologically when one is labelled negatively as being different from others according to one's race and could also include taunting, gesturing or graffiti
- Mobbing – This means that the target is being bullied by a group of perpetrators and not just one perpetrator
- Sexual – unwanted physical contact, sexually abusive comments

All types and forms of Bullying are unacceptable. Bullying behaviour may take place in any setting whether it is in schools, the home or in a sporting environment. Instances of Bullying in a sporting environment, as with many other forms of social interaction by young people, may be carried out by other children, younger or older, by children individually or as part of a group or by an adult or adults involved in the club. Indeed a child may be suffering from Bullying outside of their participation in the GAA but the actions suffered may still impinge upon the child's participation in GAA club activities and games.

Bullying is a 'whole organisation matter' and as such requires a 'whole organisation' approach. This means that any anti-bullying approach should step beyond those children and young people and sports leaders who are directly involved and take account of everyone in the organisation or club, as they all have a part to play in countering bullying.

A whole organisation approach aims to create a supportive environment where it is not acceptable to bully and where the ethos of the organisation is that it is 'ok to tell' or to report instances of bullying. In creating this type of environment, the cycle of silence in relation to bullying can be broken. In the first instance, it is the responsibility of the Club whether it is through their Children's Officer, their volunteer coaches, or employees to deal with any instances of Bullying at Club level. All Clubs should develop and implement strategies both in relation to prevention and intervention in order to adequately address the issue of bullying.

Prevention strategies include an anti-bullying policy, awareness raising through training, codes of behaviour, peer mentoring, and health education programmes. Intervention strategies include mediation, the 'No Blame Approach', Parental/Guardian involvement and disciplinary measures.

The more extreme forms of bullying behaviour would be regarded as physical or emotional abuse, and as such should be referred to the Club's Designated Liaison Person who in line with GAA guidelines may deal with the matter as a reported allegation of abuse. Each Club should have a clear policy on countering bullying behaviour which is known to members, and in particular to the under age players and their parents. As with all policies the Club's Anti Bullying Policy should be made known to all and implemented in full.

Possible Examples of Bullying in a Sports context

- Bullying may be carried out by young players or by adults against other young players or against adults
- A coach may pursue a 'win at all costs mentality' with young players
- A player may be intimidated by another player or this could also occur in a group context
- Bullying that may have commenced outside of the club may continued on the playing fields or in the dressing rooms
- Unknown to the coach incidents of teasing, taunting or physical bullying may be happening among underage players

Children and young people may conceal the fact that they are being bullied because the consequences of reporting it may be that they will suffer more bullying, or they may find it embarrassing for themselves and their family or they may mistakenly believe that some of the actions directed against them also happen elsewhere in different codes and different sports.

4.5.2 Peer Abuse

In some cases of abuse the alleged perpetrator will also be a child. In these situations the GAA child welfare and protection procedures, including those outlined in the Code of Behaviour (Underage) and in these Guidance for Dealing & Reporting Allegations or Concerns of Abuse should be adhered to for both the victim and the alleged abuser. If there is any conflict of interest between the welfare of the person against whom allegations of abuse are made and the victim, the victim's welfare is of paramount importance.

Abusive behaviour perpetrated by children must be taken seriously. Early referral and intervention is essential in all such instances. Peer Abuse can be defined as the physical, mental, emotional or sexual mistreatment of a person by somebody else of the same peer and/or age group. Quite often in a sporting context, whether in a team or individual context a key concern would be where a child/young person is mistreating another child/young person of a similar age.

4.5.3 E-Bullying/Cyber Bullying

Action that results in the deliberate tormenting, threatening, harassing, humiliating, embarrassing, or otherwise targeting of a child or young person by another person using the Internet, interactive and digital technologies or mobile phones would constitute E-Bullying or Cyber Bullying.

DEALING WITH CONCERNS OR SUSPICIONS OF ABUSE

While Designated Liaison Persons at all levels of the Association should be fully aware as to the procedures for reporting allegations or disclosures of abuse (see Section 6) the procedure prior to reporting, i.e. the responding and recording procedure is also a key aspect to identifying any cases of abuse or of poor practice. Designated Liaison Persons at Club level should as appropriate seek the guidance and advice from their County, Provincial or National Designated Liaison Person and the statutory authorities on such matters. The accurate recording of allegations or disclosures will be of major assistance to statutory authorities and to the GAA National Child Safeguarding Committee should an allegation be processed internally and/or externally.

These guidelines are primarily concerned with instances of abuse that may occur when children are engaged in GAA activities or where GAA personnel (e.g. mentors, employees etc.) act on behalf of the Association. The Association has a direct responsibility to deal with such instances of abuse including instances where the abuse may be perpetrated by one child against another. Should a complaint or allegation of abuse be made that is deemed to be non-Association related this matter should be referred to the relevant Designated Liaison Person so as to enable them bring such matters to the attention of the relevant statutory authority in the jurisdiction in which they reside.

Through our work with young people in the GAA our mentors, coaches and indeed other parents may be seen to be part of a safe environment in which young people may wish to share their concerns or divulge confidential information. Young people may choose to seek such advice because they believe the environment of their Club to be safe, secure and supportive.

It is important to recognise that a young person and indeed an adult wishing to report or outline their concerns may also have feelings of reluctance, hesitancy, and guilt about what they wish to report. Designated Liaison Persons or any member of the GAA who may be in receipt of such reports or disclosures should respond in a supportive, sensitive and caring manner.

5.1 Responding to disclosures or allegations of abuse

When responding to a disclosure or allegation of abuse it is important to observe the following:

- Be sensitive and listen carefully to what is being reported to you
- Take what is said to you seriously
- React calmly when responding, as over-reacting may alarm the young person and compound feelings of anxiety and guilt
- Emphasise that the discussion, while confidential, may have to be shared with others so as to pursue the allegation correctly
- Reassure the person that they have taken the correct action in making the disclosure
- Never make a judgmental statement about the allegation or the alleged abuser
- Do not make false promises, particularly regarding secrecy
- If asking any questions do so for the purpose of clarification only
- Explain and ensure that the young person understands the procedures which will follow
- Inform the relevant GAA Designated Liaison Person of the allegation received as per the procedures outlined in Section 6 of these Guidelines
- Treat all information received in a confidential manner

5.2 Recording disclosures or allegations of abuse

It is the relevant Designated Liaison Person acting on behalf of the GAA who shall record specific information as part of the reporting procedures, as outlined elsewhere in this section of these Guidelines. It will be necessary when making reports to complete the relevant Standard Reporting Form and GAA Reporting Allegations of Abuse Forms. (See Appendix 4/5/6). In cases where the young person themselves may be reporting the disclosure or allegation to a GAA Designated Liaison Person please consider the following so as to ensure the accuracy of all information recorded and the welfare of the young person:

- Be accurate and factual in the recording of disclosures or allegations
- Record the conversation as soon as possible, and in as much detail as possible
- Listen carefully and attentively and take the young person seriously

- React calmly when recording, as over-reacting may alarm the young person and compound feelings of anxiety and guilt
- Do not ask specific or leading questions and don't ask the person to repeat their story unnecessarily
- Do not make false promises as to what may happen after you report the allegation
- Explain and ensure that the young person understands the procedures which will follow
- Reassure the young person that they have taken the correct action in making the disclosure
- Check with the young person to ensure that what has been heard and understood by you is accurate
- Do not express any opinions about the person(s) against whom the allegation(s) may be made
- If parents do not wish to have the allegation pursued it should be explained that for the purpose of protecting their own and other children that all allegations must be recorded and reported in line with GAA policy on this matter
- Where reasonable grounds for concern (as outlined in Section 6) have been established the matter shall be reported to the relevant authorities as a matter of urgency and to the relevant GAA Designated Liaison Person
- In an emergency or in the event of the relevant or any Designated Liaison Persons being unavailable to assist all relevant reports and/or allegations of abuse may be made directly to An Garda Síochána or Tusla or to the Police Service of Northern Ireland (PSNI) or Health and Social Care Trust by a member of the GAA or by any member of the public
- Treat the information confidentially, sharing it only with persons who have a right know
- Sign and date the record

5.3 Confidentiality

Confidentiality should be maintained in respect of all allegations involving cases of alleged abuse. This however does not supersede the rights of the child to be kept safe from abuse or harm. Confidentiality is vital if the rights of both the child and the person against whom the allegations or complaint has been made are to be protected.

The following points should be considered so as to ensue that all parties acknowledge and adhere to the required levels of confidentiality at all times:

- All information should be treated in a careful and sensitive manner and should be discussed on a need to know basis only with those who need to know, as outlined elsewhere in this booklet
- The sharing of information on a 'need to know basis' is not deemed to be a breach of confidentiality
- Use and disclose the information collated only in ways compatible with the purposes for which it was initially given
- If a young person discloses information relating to possible child abuse it cannot be dealt with as a 'secret' between the young person and the person to whom they have reported their concerns
- Information should be conveyed to the parents of the child unless to do so may further endanger the child. The conveying of information should always be done in a sensitive manner and discussions with the statutory authorities should take place in advance of the sharing of information with all parties, so as to ensure that any such actions do not obstruct or hinder ongoing investigations that may be taking place
- All persons involved in a child protection and welfare process (the child, his/her parents/guardians, the alleged offender, his/her family, coaches) should be afforded appropriate respect, fairness, support and confidentiality at all stages of the procedure
- Information should be stored in a secure place, with limited access only by the relevant Designated Liaison Persons
- Breaches of confidentiality shall be deemed a serious matter and dealt with accordingly within the GAA
- The sharing of information or the passing on of information to relevant authorities is not deemed to be a breach of confidentiality.

5.4 Anonymous Complaints

Anonymous complaints can be difficult to deal with but should not be ignored. In all cases the safety and welfare of the child remains paramount and as such anonymous complaints should be followed up in a discreet manner. Any such complaints relating to possible abuse or other child protection concerns should be brought to the attention of the Designated Person.

Note: It is not the role of a Designated Liaison Person or anybody else in the GAA to commence investigation surrounding the allegations of abuse or to interview the person against who an allegation has been made or interview others that may have been subject to the allegation. This role shall be carried out by the statutory authorities in the relevant jurisdiction in which the Association operates.

REPORTING ALLEGATIONS OF CHILD ABUSE

Any member/employee of the Gaelic Athletic Association, who is informed, knows, suspects or is concerned that a child may be or may have been subject to child abuse, while engaged in Association activities or who has received information regarding any such concerns involving persons who act on behalf of the association, has a duty to convey such concerns as a matter of urgency to the Designated Liaison Persons at Club, County, Provincial or National level in accordance with GAA procedures, as outlined elsewhere in these Guidelines.

Members/Employees of Cumann Lúthchleas Gael are furthermore obliged to facilitate and co-operate with any review or consideration of a complaint, a report or allegation of abuse which may be carried out by statutory authorities or by the relevant Club, County or Provincial Designated Liaison Person or by the GAA National Child Safeguarding Committee.

Members/Employees may themselves submit a report of alleged abuse to the relevant statutory authority regardless of what action may be taken by the GAA. See Tusla contact and reporting details on page 63 and Health and Social Care contact details on page 64.

Additionally, the GAA Mandated Person, mandatedperson@gaa.ie, who is also the Association's National Designated Liaison Person, must as a matter of policy be informed of all reports submitted to statutory authorities on behalf of any unit of the Association both in the Republic of Ireland and in Northern Ireland and of any decisions made not to report allegations of abuse, if so made. This requirement is in place so as to enable the Association's Mandated Person/National Designated Liaison Person to take necessary actions involving members of the Association who may be working with children and if required to put supports in place for children who may be subject to the report of abuse.

The GAA Child Safeguarding Manager is the Association's Mandated Person (see Appendix 10)

It should be noted from the outset that when a report of abuse has been received all units and members of the Association are obliged to consider the following:

- The safety and welfare of the child must be of paramount concern to all members of the GAA. Any steps deemed necessary to protect the child should be implemented as a matter of urgency while also being careful that the person against whom the allegation has been made is not unreasonably penalised
- When an allegation has been made and where reasonable grounds for concern have been established the matter shall be reported to the relevant authorities as a matter of urgency and also to the GAA Mandated Person/National DLP. The formal reporting may be made directly by the relevant DLP or jointly with the Association's National DLP/Mandated Person. Alternatively, the allegation or concern may be submitted to the Association's Mandated Person/National DLP to make a report on behalf of the GAA
- All matters concerning any allegation of abuse must be dealt with in strict confidence
- The principle of natural justice must always be adhered to thus ensuring that the presumption of innocence applies until otherwise proven
- If an allegation of child abuse is received protective measures, proportionate to the level of risk, should be taken by the relevant GAA Designated Liaison Person. Other than in exceptional circumstances, where a risk to a child's welfare and safety takes precedence the advice of the relevant statutory authority is unavailable, the relevant statutory authority should be sought before contact is made with the person against whom the allegation is made. This should ensure that any actions taken by the GAA will not impact negatively on possible future external investigations
- The need to invoke the temporary debarment of the person against whom an allegation has been made shall be done in a confidential manner, while also ensuring that the welfare of the child is deemed to be of paramount importance. All such actions shall be of a temporary nature, shall be considered proportionate to the acts carried out and must be reported to the GAA Mandated Person, mandatedperson@gaa.ie

- All reports made, whether internal or external to the GAA, shall note times, dates, locations etc. and should be signed by the person that raised the concern or made the allegation (See Appendices 4/5/6).
- Designated Liaison Persons shall accept reports, allegations or concerns of abuse from members or non-members of the GAA verbally or in writing but must request a written or signed report in the event of reporting such matters to the statutory authorities. The absence of a written or signed report does not prohibit a report from being made to the statutory authorities
- Any reports or concerns regarding allegations of abuse, once received by the Designated Liaison Person, shall be recorded, signed, dated and where reasonable grounds for concern have been established shall be reported by the Designated Liaison Person to the Statutory Authorities and to the GAA Mandated Person/National DLP
- Responses to and the reporting of allegations/reports/concerns of abuse to the Statutory Authorities and to the GAA Mandated Person/National DLP shall be carried as soon as possible and as a matter of priority

6.1 Where Reasonable Grounds for Concern Exist

The ability to recognise child abuse depends very much on a person's willingness to accept the possibility of its existence as it does on an individual's knowledge and information on such matters. Child abuse need not be visible to all and while a young person may disclose that they are being abused we primarily rely on adults to be vigilant and to observe any possible forms of suspected abuse and to report all such matters to their Designated Liaison Person.

Mentors or other adults in a club are not expected to be in a position to instantly recognise instances of abuse, particularly without any prior training or experience in these matters.

The following would constitute reasonable grounds for concern and should be reported to the designated person⁴:

- Evidence, for example an injury or behaviour, that is consistent with abuse and is unlikely to have been caused in any other way
- Any concern about possible sexual abuse
- Consistent signs that a child is suffering from emotional or physical neglect saying or indicating by other means that he or she has been abused
- A child saying or indicating by other means that he or she has been abused
- Admission or indication by an adult or a child of an alleged abuse they committed
- An account from a person who saw the child being abused

If you think a child is in immediate danger and you cannot contact Tusla you should contact the Gardaí without delay.

Children First: National Guidance for the Protection and Welfare of Children (2017)

A suspicion that is not supported by any objective indicator of abuse or neglect would not constitute a reasonable suspicion or constitute reasonable grounds for concern. If an individual is unsure as to how to proceed with their concerns they should consult with their relevant Designated Liaison Person. Where reasonable grounds for concern exist the relevant statutory authority must be contacted unless previously known to them.

6.2 Allegations of Child Abuse relating to a volunteer in the GAA

- The Designated Liaison Person in each Club, County or Province shall receive complaints, allegations or reports of abuse
- Should the Club, County or Provincial Designated Person be unsure as to the status of any allegations of abuse they should contact a duty social worker for advice or may seek advice from the GAA Mandated Person/National DLP

⁴ Based on Children First National Guidance for the Protection and Welfare of Children (2017)

- Allegations received at Club level shall be assessed immediately by the Club Designated Liaison Person. They may consult informally if they wish with the relevant statutory authority and with their County or National DLP as well. Where reasonable grounds for concern are subsequently established the concern shall be reported to the statutory authorities, and also to the GAA Mandated Person/National DLP as soon as is practically possible
- All allegations and or complaints, whether reported to the statutory authorities or not, shall be reported to the GAA Mandated Person/National DLP. (See GAA Reporting Allegations of Abuse Form Appendix 6)
- Where it has been established that there are reasonable grounds for suspecting that a child has been abused or may be at risk of being abused a debarment order against any person named in the complaint or report shall be considered following consultations with the GAA Mandated Person/National DLP. This would normally be done following consultation with the relevant statutory authority. The debarred person(s) shall be instructed to withdraw from all activities in the GAA pending the outcome of a full consideration and review of the allegation
- The Designated Liaison Person making the report shall inform the parents/guardians of the child named in the complaint as to the nature of the complaint or allegation received unless by doing so it could endanger the child. This would normally be done if the complaint is not known to the parents and only following consultations with the relevant Statutory Authority. Actions taken by the GAA in relation to the allegations or complaint shall be communicated to the parents/guardians of the child based on the advice received from the Statutory Authorities
- The Designated Liaison Person making the report shall inform the person against whom allegations have been made as to the nature of the allegations. This would normally be done following consultations with the relevant Statutory Authority.

Always allow for the necessary level of confidentiality when reporting such allegations.

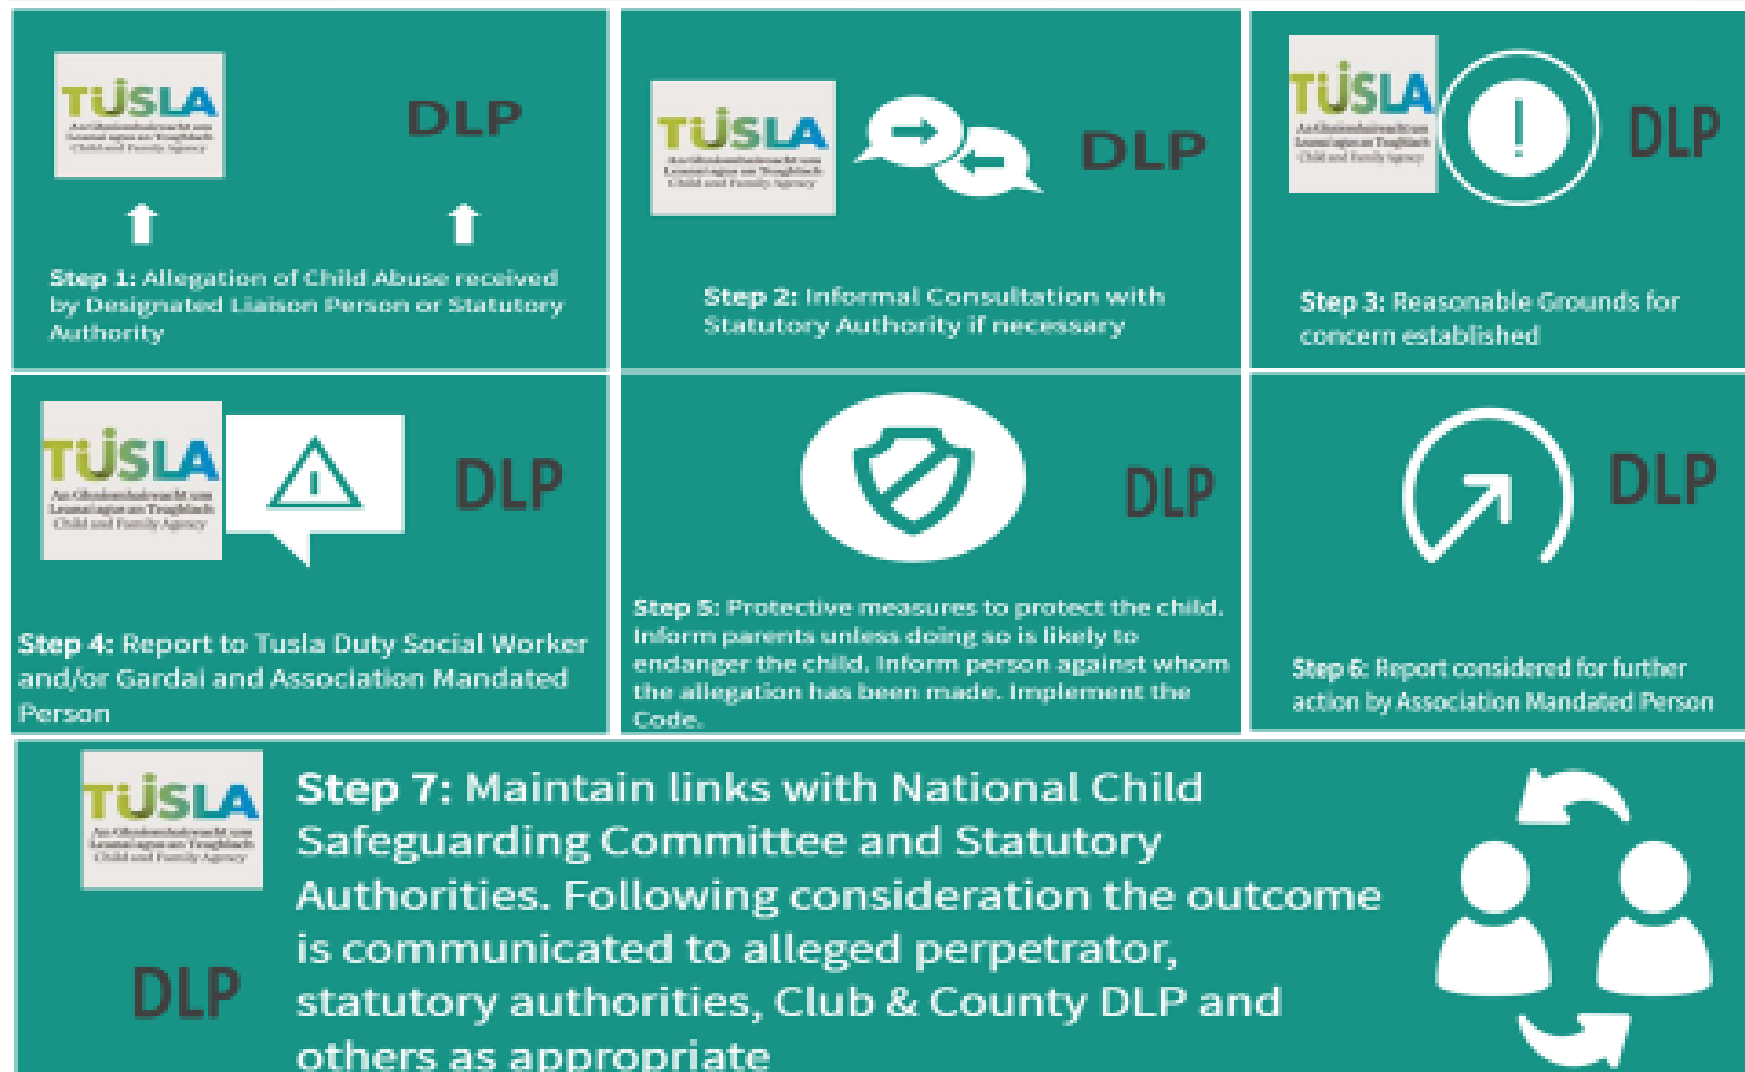

- The debarment of any individual should be done in a confidential manner and the presumption of innocence remains until proven otherwise. A debarment decision, once communicated, comes into effect immediately and remains in effect until removed and the person against whom the debarment decision has been informed of such a removal or a reversal of such decision
- A debarment decision must be confirmed in writing to the person whose actions has given cause for concern
- The Cathaoirleach of the Club shall be informed if a debarment order is made against any member of the Club. Such information shall be treated with the strictest of confidence and the Club shall be obliged to adhere to the terms of the debarment

Non availability of Designated Liaison Person or in case of emergency

In an emergency, or in the event of a Club or County Designated Liaison Persons (or Deputy Designated Liaison Person) being unavailable to assist, reports and/or allegations of abuse may be made directly to An Garda Síochána or Tusla or to the PSNI or Social Services by a member of the GAA or by any member of the public.

Reporting Pathway

Pathway for dealing with and reporting allegations of abuse against staff or members

6.3 Allegations of Child Abuse relating to an employee in the GAA

Where the GAA, at Club, County, Provincial or National level has entered into an employer/employee arrangement with an individual the ‘employer’ must ensure that employees are aware of the internal line management reporting procedures for dealing with allegations of abuse. These procedures should clarify how allegations of abuse are processed when such allegations are made against fellow employees, volunteers or young people. Employers should be aware of employment legislation and any other employee relations policies when dealing with allegations involving paid employees.

Similarly as to cases involving allegations of abuse made against a volunteer, should any allegations of abuse be made against an employee the safety and welfare of the child must be the paramount concern to all members of the GAA. Any steps deemed necessary to protect the child should be implemented as a matter of urgency while also being careful that the person against whom the allegation has been made is not unreasonably penalised.

6.3.1 Employer’s procedural responsibilities

It is recommended that the same person should not have responsibility for dealing with the issues surrounding the reporting of allegations and the employment/contractual issues. The Designated Liaison Person will normally have responsibility for the volunteer or young person while a person acting in the capacity of employer or on behalf of the employer e.g. a Chief Executive Officer, County Secretary, Human Resources Manager or equivalent senior person will have responsibility for dealing with allegations made against an employee.

6.3.2 Staff and indeed volunteers may be subject to erroneous or malicious allegations. Therefore any allegations of abuse should be dealt with sensitively and relevant supports provided, within the resource capabilities of the Association and following legal and statutory authority advice.

6.3.3 The principal aim however is to protect the child while taking care to treat the employee fairly. Organisations need to identify how they can best fulfil this objective.

6.3.4 Action taken in reporting an allegation of abuse against an employee should be based on an opinion formed reasonably and in good faith. When an allegation is received it should be assessed promptly and carefully. It will be necessary to decide whether a formal report should be made to the statutory authorities and this decision should be based on reasonable grounds for concern. (The reasonable grounds for concern are outlined in Section 6.1 of these Guidelines).

6.3.5 When an allegation has been made against an employee the following steps should be taken:

- All actions shall be guided by agreed GAA reporting procedures, as outlined elsewhere in these Guidelines, by the employees contractual arrangements and by the rules of natural justice
- The Chief Executive Officer, County Secretary, Human Resources Manager or equivalent senior person shall be informed of the allegation as soon as possible and shall take responsibility for processing the matter on behalf of the employer or jointly with the GAA in the case of non-GAA employees
- The first priority should be to ensure that no child is exposed to unnecessary risk. The employer should, as a matter of urgency, take any necessary protective measures. These measures should be proportionate to the level of risk and should not unreasonably penalise the employee financially or otherwise, unless this action is deemed necessary to protect children. Where protective measures do penalise the employee, it is important that early consideration be given to the case
- The agreed recording and reporting procedures, as outlined in these Guidelines should be adhered to at all times in respect of the young person and the employee
- The CEO/HR Manager or equivalent senior person should advise the employee of the allegation. This should be done in private and with due consideration of confidentiality and natural justice and following advice from the statutory authorities. The procedures for dealing with the allegation should also be outlined to the employee

- The employee should be afforded the right to respond in accordance with established grievance procedure. The response should be noted and made available to the statutory authorities as part of any subsequent formal reporting procedure
- The CEO/HR Manager or equivalent senior person should also notify the statutory authority of any other organisation working with children with which the person against whom the allegation is made may be involved
- If the allegation is against the CEO or any member of the National Children's Office Staff, the allegation should be referred to the Chairperson of the National Coiste Bainistí or an equivalent senior person
- The parents/guardians of the young person should be informed immediately of the complaint against the employee unless by doing so you endanger the young person. Advice should be taken from the statutory authorities and the GAA Mandated Person/National DLP as to how this might best be done
- Any follow up on an allegation of abuse against an employee should be made in consultation with the relevant statutory authorities. An immediate meeting should be arranged for this purpose
- After the consultations referred to above have taken place, and when pursuing the question of the future position of the employee the CEO/HR Manager or equivalent senior person on behalf of the employer should advise the employee of the situation and should follow the agreed procedures

- Employers should ensure that any actions taken by them do not undermine or frustrate any investigations being conducted by the statutory authorities.
- Employers must keep comprehensive records of any allegations made, details of how the allegations were managed and details of any action taken and decisions reached. These records must be stored confidentially and a copy given to the individual concerned. This information must be retained on file for an agreed period of time, including information on those who may leave the employment of the organisation for further possible reference

6.4 Where ‘Reasonable Grounds for Concern’ may not exist

There will be occasions where certain instances of alleged abuse against a volunteer or staff member may be suspected, or there may be doubts as to the substantive nature of an allegation or suspicion. A suspicion which is not supported by any objective indication of abuse or neglect would not constitute a reasonable suspicion or reasonable grounds for concern. Where there may be insufficient grounds for establishing or substantiating such concerns the following course of action is recommended but should be proceeded with carefully and confidentially while ensuring the welfare of the child remains paramount:

- The issue, as it may relate to a volunteer or young person in the Association, should be subject to clarification of facts and updating where appropriate with the GAA Mandated Person/ National DLP. In the case of an employee the matter should be subject to updating by the CEO/HR Manager or equivalent senior person previously involved in the initial reporting of the allegation or suspicion of abuse.
- Advice at all times may be sought from the National Designated Person and/or from the relevant statutory authority
- The conduct of the person that caused such concerns should be monitored and recorded as appropriate
- A formal review of the matter should be agreed between the relevant Designated Liaison Person and the GAA Mandated Person/National DLP as it relates to a volunteer or young person and the CEO/HR Manager or equivalent senior person in consultation with the National Designated Liaison Person, as it relates to an employee

- Should reasonable grounds for concern be established, following the commencement of this course of action, the formal reporting procedures should be enacted
- At all times the welfare of any child involved in such matters should be of paramount concern and the Association through the appointed Designated Liaison Persons or while acting in the capacity of an employer should act accordingly.

6.5 When an allegation is not referred to the statutory authorities

In situations where the Designated Liaison Person, following consultations (perhaps with the relevant statutory authority) subsequently decides that an allegation received or concerns relayed to them will not be formally reported to the relevant statutory authorities the individual who raised the concerns or made the allegations should be given a clear written statement of the reasons why the reported concern are not being reported to the statutory authorities. The individual should be advised that, if they remain concerned about the situation, they are free to consult with, or report to, the statutory authorities themselves.

Should the person who passed their concerns be a child then the child's parents should be informed of the decision not to formally report to the statutory authorities, unless there are extenuating reasons not to report this to the parents.

All report of alleged abuse made against members of the GAA must be forwarded to the National Designated Liaison Person, regardless of whether it has or has not been reported to the relevant statutory authorities. Where a decision is made not to refer reported concerns to statutory authorities this decision and the reasons contained therein must be recorded and subsequently brought to the attention of the GAA National Designated Liaison Person.

The above directions also apply to situations where an allegation received or concerns relayed against an employee are not being reported to the relevant statutory authorities.

6.6 False Allegations

The making of a false allegation by a member of the GAA shall be deemed to be a serious breach of the Code of Behaviour (Underage) .⁵ Any allegation made, which is subsequently found to be false or of a malicious nature, shall also be deemed to be a serious breach of these Guidelines and subsequent disciplinary action may follow.

In the Republic of Ireland, the Protection for Persons Reporting Child Abuse Act, 1998 provides immunity from civil liability to persons who report child abuse ‘reasonably and in good faith’ to the Health Service Executive or An Garda Síochána. The Act also covers the offence of ‘false reporting’. The main provisions of the Act are:

- The provision of immunity from civil liability to any person who reports child abuse “reasonably and in good faith” to designated officers of Tusla or any member of An Garda Síochána
- The provision of significant protections for employees who report child abuse. These protections cover all employees and all forms of discrimination up to and including, dismissal
- The creation of a new offence of false reporting of child abuse where a person makes a report of child abuse to the appropriate authorities “knowing that statement to be false”. This is a new criminal offence designed to protect innocent persons from malicious reports.

It should be noted that an individual who reports concerns in ‘good faith’ is not deliberately attempting to slander another person’s name., The Criminal Law Act (NI) 1967 exists in the six counties and places the responsibility on everyone to report offences or to forward information to the police by emphasising the, ‘duty of every other person, who knows or believes,

⁵ Code of Behaviour (Underage) available on www.gaa.ie and from all County Board offices or the GAA National Children’s Office Páirc an Chrócaigh, Baile Átha Cliath 3

- (a) that the offence or some other arrestable offences has been committed: and
- (b) that he has information which is likely to secure, or to be material assistance in securing, the apprehension, prosecution or conviction of any person for that offence.

SECTION 8

THE ROLE OF THE DESIGNATED LIAISON PERSON

All Clubs and County Boards shall appoint a Designated Liaison Person who on behalf of the Club or County shall be responsible for dealing with any concerns relating to the possible abuse of children. If deemed appropriate Provincial Councils may also appoint a Designated Liaison Person who shall assist and advise Club and County Designated Liaison Persons on their roles.

Designated Liaison Persons must have the ability to approach child welfare and protection matters in a sensible, balanced, facilitative and non threatening manner and should be aware of the responsibilities that they are required to fulfil on behalf of their Club/County and the GAA.

The person chosen must be fully aware as to how allegations of abuse referred by them are subsequently dealt with by statutory agencies and authorities within their jurisdiction and how reports to the GAA National Designated Liaison Person are processed.

When a Club or County appoints their Designated Liaison Person it is equally important to select a Deputy Designated Liaison Person who in the event of the unavailability of the Designated Liaison Person may be called upon to fulfil this role. Relevant training should also be made available to Deputy Designated Liaison Person so as to familiarise them as to their responsibilities.

It is the County Designated Liaison Person who shall in most instances report allegations of abuse to statutory authorities on behalf of Clubs in their County – having discussed such decisions with the relevant Club Designated Liaison Person. The reporting of allegations of abuse may also be made by the National Designated Liaison Person on behalf of the GAA.

It is important to note that the Designated Liaison Person does not have a counselling or therapeutic role or a responsibility for investigating or validating child protection concerns within their Club or County.

Investigations of alleged abuse are carried out by the relevant Statutory Authorities as outlined in Children First – National Guidelines for the Protection and Welfare of Children and Our Duty to Care⁶ or by specially appointed trained personnel in counselling, psychological and child therapeutic services. Further review and consideration of any Allegations of Abuse within the GAA structures may be carried out as deemed necessary by the appropriate body or persons in the GAA, appointed for such purposes including the National Child Safeguarding Committee.

Should a GAA Designated Liaison Person, or other member of the Association, be made aware of a complaint or allegation of abuse against a person, regardless of whether that person is in membership or the employment of the Association or not, this matter should be referred by the Designated Liaison Person or member of the Association to the relevant statutory authority in the jurisdiction in which they reside.

8.1 The Club Designated Liaison Person

A prerequisite for all Club Designated Liaison Persons, prior to being appointed or accepting their role, is that they must have knowledge of Legislation and Guidance for Dealing & Reporting Allegations or Concerns of Abuse procedures pertinent to the jurisdiction in which they operate. This may include:

- a) The Code of Behaviour (Underage).
- b) The GAA Guidance for Dealing & Reporting Allegations or Concerns of Abuse (Fourth Edition).

The Club Designated Liaison Person is responsible for referring all allegations or suspicions of child abuse to the County Designated Liaison Person. It is the County Designated Liaison person, having consulted with their Club counterpart, and having established reasonable grounds for concern, who will duly report such concerns to Tusla (ROI) or Health and Social Care Trusts (NI) and/or An Garda Síochána/Police Service of Northern Ireland.

This process has been agreed as a method of supporting those at club level who have agreed to take on the Designated Liaison Person role, by administering the reports to statutory authorities rather than to be perceived to function in a gate keeping role. The Designated Liaison Person at club level still retains the right, as does any individual, to report directly to statutory authorities and should they choose to do so they must keep the County Designated Liaison Person and the GAA National Designated Liaison Person informed for further possible consideration and monitoring within the Association.

In accordance with GAA procedures all referrals from Club Designated Liaison Person to County Designated Liaison Persons, whether reported thereafter to the statutory authorities or not, must be reported to the GAA National Designated Liaison Person for further possible consideration within the Association.

The County Designated Liaison Person shall facilitate and support Club Designated Liaison Persons in determining whether to report allegations or suspicions of abuse to the relevant statutory authorities. All such matters shall be determined following an appraisal of any allegations received and where reasonable grounds for concern exist, following such appraisals, such matters shall be reported without delay to the relevant statutory authorities and to the GAA National Designated Liaison Person as appropriate.

All allegations of abuse forwarded to the statutory authorities on behalf of clubs shall be formally made by the County Designated Liaison Person on behalf of the relevant club in their County. All such reports must also be made to the GAA National Designated Liaison Person.

The Provincial Designated Liaison Person may be required in situations to lead on child welfare and protection matters in a knowledgeable, sensible, balanced, facilitative and non threatening manner and should be aware of the responsibilities that they are required to fulfil on behalf of their Province and the GAA.

Child Welfare and Protection as Overseen by Ulster GAA

The role of the GAA in administering good practice for the safeguarding of young people in the Association is outlined throughout these Guidance for Dealing & Reporting Allegations or Concerns of Abuse. Ulster GAA provides an additional and specific child welfare and protection advisory role for the nine counties of Ulster. This role includes child protection awareness training, advisory services on dealing with concerns or allegations of abuse the Ulster Provincial Designated Liaison Person and a Garda vetting and Police background checks service.

Appendix 1 of these Guidelines solely applies to the six counties of Antrim, Armagh, Derry, Down, Fermanagh and Tyrone due to the specific child welfare and protection role carried out by Ulster GAA in these counties and the jurisdiction differences that may also apply elsewhere in these Guidelines.

Ulster GAA is registered as an ‘umbrella body’ with AccessNI and processes applications for vetting disclosure certificates for all GAA county boards and clubs in Ulster. Through a service level agreement Ulster GAA also processes applications for vetting disclosure certificates with AccessNI on behalf of Ulster Camogie Council and Ulster Ladies Gaelic Council.

Additional to this role Ulster GAA also facilitates Garda Vetting applications on behalf of GAA County Boards and Clubs in Cavan, Donegal and Monaghan.

A Reporting Allegations of Abuse to Statutory Authorities

The process of reporting allegations of abuse to statutory authorities in Antrim, Armagh, Derry, Down, Fermanagh and Tyrone is in line with Section 6 of these Guidelines.

Ulster GAA, in common with all Provincial Councils, assists the Association in promoting good practice in child welfare and protection. In accordance with GAA procedures they willingly provide Club and County Board Designated Liaison Persons who wish to report allegations of abuse or concerns of a child welfare nature to the statutory authorities with advisory services so as to ensure compliance with relevant legislation and guidance, regardless of jurisdiction.

Should a member of the GAA believe or suspect that that a child is suffering or is in danger of suffering significant harm or may be in danger of being abused they should immediately pass on such concerns to the relevant GAA Designated Liaison Person who will assist them in formally reporting such matters to the relevant Social Care Trust. All reports made to the Statutory Authorities shall also be reported to the GAA National Designated Liaison Person. (See Appendix 4 Standard Reporting Form Tusla, Appendix 5 Standard Reporting Form (Trust) and Appendix 6 (GAA Reporting Allegations of Abuse Forms).

It should be noted that an individual may, if they so wish, directly report their concerns to the statutory authorities themselves.

B Glossary of Terms

Within this booklet definitions and terminology which may have previously been defined (See Section 2) may for the purposes of interpretation in the aforementioned six counties have cause to be re-defined as follows:

Child: A child is defined by Article 1 of the Children (NI) Order 1995 as any person under 18 years of age.

Vulnerable Adult: A vulnerable adult is a person defined as having special needs or where vulnerability is defined, ‘a person aged 18 years or over who is, or may be, in need of community care services or is resident in a continuing care facility by reason of mental or other disability, age or illness or who is, or may be, unable to take care of him or herself or unable to protect him or herself against significant harm or exploitation’. The full definition of a vulnerable adult is contained in paragraph 3 of The Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups (NI) Order 2007.

Statutory Authorities: The authorities who promote the welfare and protection of children and who in cases of alleged abuse of children have the responsibility to investigate all such allegations. In the Republic of Ireland the statutory authorities are An Garda Síochána and the Health Service Executive while it is the PSNI and the Department of Health Social Services and Public Safety (DHSSPS) who have a similar role in Antrim, Armagh, Derry, Down, Fermanagh and Tyrone. The DHSSPS however do not investigate individual cases. These investigations are carried out by the relevant Health and Social Care Trusts

Social Care Trusts: The five Social Care Trusts established as part of a statutory duty under the Children (NI) Order 1995 are Belfast Health and Social Care Trust, Northern Health and Social Care Trust, Southern Health and Social Care Trust, Western Health and Social Care Trust, South Eastern Health and Social Care Trust. The contact details for the five Social Care Trusts is available in Appendix 3

Gateway Teams: These are the first points of contact if you have concerns about a Child or Family. They will treat all contacts as enquiries in the first instance. Enquiries can include requests for information, advice and concerns about a child or family. An enquiry is always completed first; it is an initial filtering system before a referral is taken. If you contact by phone, the Duty Worker will seek some general information about you, the child or family and the nature of your concern. On the basis of this information they will be able to judge whether or not the enquiry should be progressed to referral.

C Legislation, guidance and reporting structures to be considered when promoting the safeguarding of children and young people under the auspices of Ulster GAA County Boards and Clubs

Health and Social Care Trusts

Established as part of a statutory duty under the Children (NI) Order 1995 to ensure the welfare of a child. Where there is a risk that a child is in danger of abuse or serious neglect Social Services must always intervene to safeguard them. In other situations where a family needs support or additional services to help them cope, Social Services may be able to help or offer advice, or may ask another professional or a voluntary agency to help.

Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups (NI) Order 2007 (SVG)

The Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups (NI) Order 2007 (SVG Order) establishes a Vetting and Barring scheme and an Independent Safeguarding Authority (ISA). The ISA will register anyone they consider not to be a risk to work with children and they also have established a Barred list of individuals, deemed unsuitable. Under this legislation organisations must check that any new coach/volunteer is registered before they commence their involvement in their activities. The ISA is the single established agency that determines if individuals who want to work or volunteer with children are suitable to do so. The registration of individuals is due to commence in July 2010.

Police Act (Known as Part 5 of the Police Act 1997)

This piece of legislation has now been enacted thus enabling the PSNI to disclose what is termed 'soft intelligence', i.e. non-conviction information, when they deem it appropriate. This coincided with the establishment of Access NI, the equivalent to the Criminal Records Bureau in England and Wales.

AccessNI

AccessNI is a criminal history disclosure service established under part V of the Police Act 1997. It provides access to criminal history information to individuals and, in certain circumstances through umbrella bodies, to organisations who are recruiting to sensitive positions. Its role is to complement each organisation's own safeguarding measures thus complimenting existing recruitment and staff/volunteer selection procedures. Typically this will involve working with children or vulnerable adults. In accordance with GAA child welfare and protection policy Ulster GAA will ensure that anyone working in any capacity with children or vulnerable adults in Ulster must be vetted by AccessNI prior to being employed or involved in any way.

An Umbrella Body is an organisation which has registered with AccessNI to make applications for vetting checks (Standard or Enhanced Disclosures) on behalf of other organisations or individuals. Ulster GAA is registered as an umbrella body with AccessNI and will process applications for vetting disclosure certificates for all GAA County Boards and Clubs in Ulster. Through a service level agreement Ulster GAA will also process applications for vetting disclosure certificates with AccessNI on behalf of Ulster Camogie Council and Ulster Ladies Gaelic Council. All regulated positions under the POCVA (NI) Order 2003 will be subject to an enhanced disclosure.

Regulated Position

A regulated position is a position that has defined responsibility when working with Children or vulnerable adults including:

- Any activity of a specified nature that involves contact with children or vulnerable adults, frequently*, intensively* and/or overnight.
- Any activity allowing contact with Children or vulnerable adults that is in a specified place carried out frequently or intensively.
- Any activity that involves people in certain defined positions of responsibility.
- Anyone providing a regulated activity must be registered with the ISA.
- It will be a criminal offence for a barred individual to take part in a regulated activity punishable by up to five years in prison, a fine or both.
- It will be a criminal offence for an employer to take on an individual in regulated activity without checking the individual's status with the ISA.
- It will be a criminal offence for an employer to allow a barred individual, or an individual who has not yet registered with the ISA to work in any regulated activity.

- *Frequently refers to a regulated activity one or more per month and will cover activity that takes place on a repetitive basis
- *Intensively in the context of regulated activity means on three or more days in a 30 day period and will cover extended periods of contact with either children or vulnerable adults

Independent Safeguarding Authority (ISA)

The Independent Safeguarding Authority (ISA) will register those working with children and vulnerable adults and maintain lists of those barred from such work on the basis of harm or risk of harm. Then legal requirement for organisations to refer information to the ISA if they discipline an individual for harming or placing a child at risk came in to being from 12 October 2009.

Furthermore as and from July 2010 there will be:

- A requirement for employees both paid and unpaid (volunteers) working in specified positions or activities to register with the ISA
- A requirement for employers to check whether an individual working in specified positions is registered with the ISA prior to employing them. This may be done by way of an on-line check
- Phased ISA registration of the existing children's and vulnerable adults' workforces, which will happen over a five year period
- Continuous monitoring of those registered with the ISA
- A requirement for employers, professional registration bodies and inspection authorities to refer relevant information to the ISA
- Offences for not meeting the requirements created by the legislation

Regulated Position

A regulated position is a position that has defined responsibility when working with children or vulnerable adults.

Regulated Activity involves:

- Any activity of a specified nature that involves contact with children or vulnerable adults, frequently, intensively and/or overnight.
- Any activity allowing contact with children or vulnerable adults that is in a specified place carried out frequently or intensively.
- Any activity that involves people in certain defined positions of responsibility.
- Any person providing a regulated activity must be registered with the ISA.
- It will be a criminal offence for a barred individual to take part in a regulated activity punishable by up to five years in prison, a fine or both.
- It will be a criminal offence for an employer to take on an individual in regulated activity without checking the individual's status with the ISA.
- It will be a criminal offence for an employer to allow a barred individual, or an individual who has not yet registered with the ISA to work in any regulated activity.

Legal age of sexual consent

The Sexual Offences NI Order 2008 stipulates that the legal age of sexual consent for the six counties is 16 years of age. The Criminal Law (Sexual Offences) Act 2006 states that the age of sexual consent is 17 years of age in the Republic of Ireland.

Significant Harm

The Children (NI) Order 1995 introduces into the Northern Ireland legislation, the concept of 'significant harm' as the threshold that justifies compulsory intervention in family life in the best interests of children. The HSS Trusts are duty bound to make enquiries or cause enquiries to be made in circumstances where they have a reasonable cause to suspect that a child is suffering or is likely to suffer significant harm.

There are no absolute legally or medically defined criteria on which to rely when judging what constitutes significant harm. Consideration of the severity of ill-treatment may include the degree and the extent of physical harm, the duration and frequency of abuse and neglect, and the extent of premeditation, degree of threat and coercion, and sadism in child sexual abuse.

Appendix 9

CHILD PROTECTION/WELFARE LEGISLATION & GUIDELINES

Reference is made below to key Child Protection and Welfare Legislation and Guidelines which are deemed pertinent to Designated Liaison Persons in their roles at Club, County or Provincial level.

United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child is a set of minimum standards that promotes the rights of the child worldwide. It contains many key Articles that have influenced national child care and welfare legislation including the definition of a child as a person under 18 years of age. It specifically outlines non discrimination rights and the rights of the child to express their opinion and to be heard. The Convention is a binding international treaty and all signatories are subject to monitoring on how they implement the Convention in their own Country.

Safeguarding Guidance for Children & Young People in (Sport Ireland and SportsNI)

A joint Sport Ireland and Sports NI Code publication that is based upon a number of core principles relating to the importance of childhood, the needs of the child, integrity and fair play, and relationships and safety in children's sport. It addresses issues relating to the roles and responsibilities of all involved in children's sport and underpins the importance of policies and procedures in providing quality leadership for children. The Code outlines principles of good practice and child protection policy and procedures. The Code of Behaviour (Underage) both incorporate the basic principles of the Code of Ethics & Good Practice for Children's Sport and form the basis of the GAA Child Welfare and Protection in Sport Awareness Training Programme with the ISC/SportNI.

Child Care Act 1991

This is the key piece of legislation which regulates child care policy in Ireland. Under this Act, Tulsa has a statutory responsibility to promote the welfare of children who are not receiving adequate care and protection. If it is found that a child is not receiving adequate care and protection, Tusla has a duty to take appropriate action to promote the welfare of the child. This may include supporting families in need of assistance in providing care and protection to their children. The Child Care Act also sets out the statutory framework for taking children into care, if necessary.

Portections For Persons Reporting Child Abuse Act 1998

This Act protects you if you make a report of suspected child abuse to designated officers of Tusla, the Health Service Executive (HSE) or to members of the Gardaí as long as the report is made in good faith and is not malicious. Designated officers also include persons authorised by the Chief Executive Officer of Tusla to receive and acknowledge reports of mandated concerns about a child from mandated persons under the Children First Act 2015. This legal protection means that even if you report a case of suspected child abuse and it proves unfounded, a plaintiff who took an action would have to prove that you had not acted reasonably and in good faith in making the report. If you make a report in good faith and in the child's best interests, you may also be protected under common law by the defence of qualified privilege. You can find the full list of persons in Tusla and the HSE who are designated officers under the 1998 Act, on the website of each agency (www.tusla.ie and www.hse.ie).

Criminal Justice Act 2006

Section 176 of this Act created an offence of reckless endangerment of children. This offence may be committed by a person who has authority or control over a child or abuser who intentionally or recklessly endangers a child by:

1. Causing or permitting the child to be placed or left in a situation that creates a substantial risk to the child of being a victim of serious harm or sexual abuse; or
2. Failing to take reasonable steps to protect a child from such a risk while knowing that the child is in such a situation.

Criminal Justice (Withholding of Information on Offences Against Children and Vulnerable Persons Act 2012

Under this Act, it is a criminal offence to withhold information about a serious offence, including a sexual offence, against a person under 18 years or a vulnerable person. The offence arises where a person knows or believes that a specified offence has been committed against a child or vulnerable person and he or she has information which would help arrest, prosecute or convict another person for that offence, but fails without reasonable excuse to disclose that information, as soon as it is practicable to do so, to a member of An Garda Síochána.

The provisions of the Withholding legislation are in addition to any reporting requirements under the Children First Act 2015.

National Vetting Bureau (Children and Vulnerable Persons Acts 2012-2016)

Under these Acts, it is compulsory for employers to obtain vetting disclosures in relation to anyone who is carrying out relevant work with children or vulnerable adults. The Acts create offences and penalties for persons who fail to comply with their provisions.

Statutory obligations on employers in relation to Garda vetting requirements for persons working with children and vulnerable adults are set out in the National Vetting Bureau (Children and Vulnerable Persons) Acts 2012–2016.

Children First Act 2015

The Children First Act 2015 is an important addition to the child welfare and protection system as it will help to ensure that child protection concerns are brought to the attention of Tusla without delay. The Act provides for mandatory reporting of child welfare and protection concerns by key professionals; comprehensive risk assessment and planning for a strong organisational culture of safeguarding in all services provided to children; a provision for a register of non-compliance; and the statutory underpinning of the existing Children First Interdepartmental Implementation Group which promotes and oversees cross-sectoral implementation and compliance with Children First.

Criminal Law (Sexual Offences) Act 2017

This Act addresses the sexual exploitation of children and targets those who engage in this criminal activity. It creates offences relating to the obtaining or providing of children for the purposes of sexual exploitation. It also creates offences of the types of activity which may occur during the early stages of the predatory process prior to the actual exploitation of a child, for example, using modern technology to prey on children and making arrangements to meet with a child where the intention is to sexually exploit the child. The Act also recognises the existence of underage, consensual peer relationships where any sexual activity falls within strictly defined age limits and the relationship is not intimidatory or exploitative.

The Sex Offenders Act 2001

The main purpose of the Act is to impose a requirement on certain sex offenders to inform An Garda Síochána of their names and addresses and any changes to these details in order to ensure that this information is kept up to date. The Act provides for post release supervision of sex offenders by the Probation and Welfare Service and makes it an offence for those who seek or accept work involving unsupervised contact with children without informing the employer of their conviction. If a person is convicted of a sexual offence outside Ireland, where that offence would constitute a sexual offence in Ireland, they are subject to the same Garda notification requirements if they subsequently come to live in Ireland. If they fail to notify the Gardaí of their details, then the Gardaí can prosecute them for non-compliance or failure to comply with the requirements.

The Data Protection Acts 1988 and 2003

The Data Protection Acts 1988 and 2003 do not prevent the sharing of information on a reasonable and proportionate basis for the purposes of child protection. Tusla has the authority to share information concerning a child who is the subject of a risk assessment with a mandated person who has been asked to provide assistance. Tusla must only share what is necessary and proportionate in the circumstances of each individual case.

Legal age of sexual consent

The Sexual Offences NI Order 2008 stipulates that the legal age of sexual consent in the 6 counties is 16 years of age. The Criminal Law (Sexual Offences) Act 2006 states that the age of sexual consent is 17 years of age in the Republic of Ireland.

Our Duty to Care 2007 (NI)⁷

Sets out the principles of best practice and how to promote the rights of children. It provides advice on developing safe recruitment practices and strategies on developing safe management practice and policies within organisations while clearly stating the principle that child safety is paramount. It also suggests ways that organisations could raise awareness among their staff and volunteers about child abuse and how staff should respond to accidents or complaints and alleged or suspected abuse.

Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups (NI) Order 2007⁸

The Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups (NI) Order 2007 (SVG Order) and establishes new safeguarding arrangements aimed at strengthening protection for children and vulnerable adults in workplace situations. Key features of the order are:

- The establishment of a new Independent Safeguarding Authority (ISA), which will register those working with children and vulnerable adults and maintain lists of those barred from such work on the basis of harm or risk of harm
- A requirement for employees (both paid and unpaid) working in specified positions to register with the ISA and pay a registration fee
- A requirement for employers to check whether an individual working in specified positions is registered with the ISA prior to employing them. This may be done by way of an on-line check
- Phased ISA registration of the existing children's and vulnerable adults' workforces

⁷ First published in 2002. Fourth edition published in 2007

⁸ Outlined in greater detail in Appendix 1 - Child Welfare and Protection Procedures as Overseen by Ulster GAA

- Continuous monitoring of those registered with the ISA
- A requirement for employers, professional registration bodies and inspection authorities to refer relevant information to the ISA
- Offences for not meeting the requirements created by the legislation

Police Act (Known as Part 5 of the Police Act 1997)

This piece of legislation has now been enacted thus enabling the PSNI to disclose what is termed 'soft intelligence', i.e. non-conviction information, when they deem it appropriate. This coincided with the establishment of Access NI, the equivalent to the Criminal Records Bureau in England and Wales.

The Children (NI) Order 1995

Defines a Child as a person under 18 years of age and aims to ensure that the child's best interests are the paramount consideration in all decisions affecting the child. The Order sets out the law in relation to the responsibilities of parents and also the statutory duty of the state to protect and provide services for children. The five good practice principles of this legislation are: Paramourncy, Parental Responsibility, Prevention, Partnership and Protection.

The Criminal Law Act (NI) 1967

A key 'reporting' piece of legislation which places the responsibility on everyone to report offences or to forward information to the police by emphasising the, 'duty of every other person, who knows or believes,

- (a) that the offence or some other arrestable offences has been committed: and
- (b) that he has information which is likely to secure, or to be material assistance in securing, the apprehension, prosecution or conviction of any person for that offence.'

Protection of Children Act 1978 (NI)

An Act to prevent the exploitation of children by making indecent photographs of them; and to penalise the distribution, showing and advertisement of such indecent photographs. The Act stipulates that it is an offence for a person—

- 1) To take, or permit to be taken, any indecent photograph of a child (meaning in this Act a person under the age of 16)
- 2) To distribute or show such indecent photographs; or to have in his possession such indecent photographs, with a view to their being distributed or shown by himself or others
- 3) To publish or cause to be published any advertisement likely to be understood as conveying that the advertiser distributes or shows such indecent photographs or intends to do so.

The Sex Offenders Act 1997

This Act imposes a requirement on certain sex offenders to notify the police of their name(s) and address and any changes to these details in order to ensure that the information on sex offenders contained within the police national computer is kept fully up to date. The Act thereby implements a ‘sex offenders register.’

The Sexual Offences (NI) Order 2008

The Order makes provision about sexual offences including the offences of rape, sexual assault and causing a person to engage in sexual activity without consent. It specifically makes provision relating to sexual offences against children and about sexual offences against a person with a mental disorder. The Sexual Offences Order sees the creation of new offences and increased tariffs for those who harm children. Part 2 of the act was implemented in 2003 which focused on the registration of those convicted and their management. This Order modifies the Sex Offenders Act 1997 to provide for a court to have the power to make a restraining order when sentencing a sex offender.

The Sexual Offences Act 2003 (NI)

This legislation means that people who have been cautioned or convicted for sexual offences on or after 1 September 1997, or who have been released from prison on or after that date, having been convicted for sexual offences must notify the police of certain details including name(s), address(es), date of birth, National Insurance Number etc. This process is sometimes referred to as ‘signing the sex offender’s register’ and offenders are required to notify for periods which are determined by the sentence handed down by the Courts.

Data Protection Act 1998

Who are Mandated Person?

- Mandated Persons are people who have contact with children and/or families and who, because of their qualifications, training and/or employment role, are in a key position to help protect children from harm.
- Mandated persons have two main legal obligations under the Children First Act 2015. These are:
 1. To report the harm of children above a defined threshold to Tusla;
 2. To assist Tusla, if requested, in assessing a concern which has been the subject of a mandated report.
- Each of the Gaelic Games Associations must legally have a Mandated Person. Each Association selected a Mandated Person who due to their employment child safeguarding roles in their respective NGBs also assumed this role. This is in accordance with Section 2 of the Children First Act 2015
- The GAA, LGFA, Camogie and Handball all have one Mandated Person in accordance with the provisions of the Children First Act 2015 and to fulfil other responsibilities in respect of any allegations or concerns if abuse that may be reported to us in Northern Ireland.
- County Boards and Clubs do not have Mandated Persons. The respective Mandated Persons in the GAA, LGFA, Camogie and Handball Associations also fulfils the role of National Designated Liaison Person.
- However others who may be members of our Gaelic Games Associations, and due to their employment roles, e.g. a member of an Garda Síochána, always retain the role of a Mandated Persons whether on duty or off duty. This applies whether they are GAA volunteers or not.
- A Mandated Person is required to report child protection concerns, over a defined threshold, to Tusla and to assist Tusla, if requested, in assessing concerns which have been the subject of a mandated report. By extension, members of the Association must also assist in any such investigations.
- Volunteers in our Associations are not identified as mandated reporters but will continue to report any allegations or concerns of child abuse, internally in their Association as per Association rules and externally to the relevant statutory authority as per Children First Guidance 2017.
