SEO.

I am delighted to extend a warm welcome to all of today's participants in the All-Ireland Wheelchair Hurling Finals.

From humble beginnings Wheelchair Hurling has established itself successfully in the GAA calendar and is a fantastic opportunity for our players to be fully involved in our Association and is a living embodiment of our manifesto of a GAA
Where We All Belong.

An All-Ireland at any level is a prized event and a precious honour and I look forward to seeing the skills of this unique game being put on display in the pursuit of silverware. However, no different to any other game in the GAA community, regardless of the result there is a value to be put on the memories made and the friendships formed on days like today and winning is never the be all and end all of what happens here.

Like all games, they require organisation and planning, and I would like to thank our GAA Games For All committee and Geraldine McTavish for her work in promoting Wheelchair Hurling through our Community and Health Department at Croke Park.

Hurling is renowned for its skill, and this has been expertly transferred over to the wheelchair version of the sport.

Nothing celebrates the GAA more than the playing of games.

I wish all involved a great day of great hurling.

Rath Dé ar an obair.

GAA GAMES FOR ALL

THE FIRST LINE OF THE GAA OFFICIAL GUIDE SPELS OUT HOW THE GAA REACHES INTO EVERY CORNER OF IRELAND AND MANY COMMUNITIES AROUND THE GLOBE. IN DOING THIS, THE GAA IS FULLY COMMITTED TO THE PRINCIPLES OF INCLUSION AND DIVERSITY AT ALL LEVELS

Our aim: To offer an inclusive, diverse and welcoming environment for everyone.

- Inclusion means people having a sense of belonging, of being comfortable in being part of something they value. Inclusion is a choice. Diversity means being aware of accommodating and celebrating differences.
- Inclusion and Diversity in many ways go together. Real inclusion reflects diversity, i.e. it aims to offer that sense of belonging to everyone, irrespective of gender, marital status, family status, sexual orientation, religion, age, race or minority community, and/or disability.

GAA GAMES FOR ALL COMMITTEE

On behalf of the GAA Games for All Committee, firstly I would like to thank our generous sponsor Martin Donnelly, the match official and all the players team mentors and supporters. A special note of thanks to our guest of honour who presented the players with their medals and offered some excellent advice to the players for their future sporting careers. Thanks to everyone for their continued support and generosity to the Games for All Committee.

Thank you, Go raibh míle maith agat
Brian Armitage
