Introduction

Ireland: A Place in Transition

Dr Larry O’Connell, Senior Economist, National Economic and Social Council

Ireland has changed in many ways since the Strategic Review in 2002. This plan is the Gaelic Athletic Association’s response to these changes. In it the Association will outline how it intends to build for the future.

Responding to the Economic Challenge

At the end of 2008, Ireland and the world face considerable economic difficulties. Forecasts are changing on almost daily basis but most now predict that prospects, at least over the next two years, are challenging.

We need, more than ever, to believe in ourselves and to be reminded about what Irish people can achieve.

This GAA Strategic Vision and Action Plan 2009 – 2015 is a vision of what Irish people can achieve at home and abroad. It maps out ways that we can protect what is valuable to us: our health, the wellbeing of our children, the support that that we can give to others in urban and rural areas and our sense of being Irish.

It outlines specific plans to deal with changes in urban areas, to integrate new communities into the GAA and to help local clubs to respond to the changes in their own community. It is important to note that the Strategy contains specific commitments, in relation to accounting procedures and supports, that will further improve the GAA's ability to work prudently and transparently with its resources.

The Strategy reflects the profound economic, social and demographic change that has taken place in Ireland since the last Report in 2002.

Population Change

There are 300,000 more people living here since 2002. More of us live in urban areas: six out of every 10 people. There are more people here from more countries around the world. In 2002, there were 274,000 people who were non-Irish nationals; in 2008 there are over 465,000. We are also still a very young population. In 2002 26% of the population was under 18; in 2008 young people still make up 24% of the population.

The increase in population is unevenly spread across the country. Analysis by the CSO (Central Statistics Office), of the last population census in 2006, shows that the big increases have occurred in the East of the country. For example, the population in Meath has increased by over 20% between 2002 and 2006.

However, in other parts of the country the population has decreased. The biggest fall in population has been in the West and Border regions. Fewer people are living in rural areas and in those areas more of the population are older and more are living alone. The population has also fallen in the cities of Limerick and Cork where it is down between 2% and 3%.

Health and Wellbeing

We are more active and more interested in our health. Research by the Irish Sports Council and Sport Northern Ireland shows the number of people engaged in sport has increased, particularly among young people. However, there are also worrying signs.

Despite more people taking part in sport and physical activity, the proportion of the population who are overweight or obese is increasing.

SLÁN (National Survey of Lifestyle, Attitudes and Nutrition) surveys have shown that:

- in 2002, 50% of the population were at a healthy weight;
- by 2007, only 48% were at a healthy weight and one in seven were obese;
- in 2002, 27% of men smoked; and
- by 2006, 31% of men smoked.

Community and Volunteering

Community remains a key value. The Taskforce on Active Citizenship found more people were engaged with the community and volunteering in 2006 than were in 2002.

The numbers volunteering in the community were:

- in 2002, 17%; and
- in 2006, 23%.
The numbers actively involved in the community were:
• in 2002, 22%; and
• in 2006, 29%.

A 2007 SLÁN survey showed most people felt support was available in their communities if they needed it.

The need for faithful and dependable links in a world of rapid change is important. We are living in a period of profound economic, social and demographic change and it is critical that we have ways to anchor ourselves. We need, through our work as Ireland’s leading sporting organisation, to find ways to protect what is valuable to us:
• our health;
• the wellbeing of our children;
• the support that we can give to others, in urban and rural areas; and
• our sense of being Irish.

Conclusion

The GAA Strategic Vision and Action Plan illustrates the type of action that can be taken to ensure that the successes and achievements of the recent past are built upon. It is a strong statement of ambition and intent informed by the experiences and needs of our members.

The views expressed here are the views of the author and do not necessarily represent the views of NESC. We would like to acknowledge a number of sources used in compiling this overview. Message from the President

Is cúis mhóir áthais dom an deis seo a fháil chun cúpla focal a scríobh ar fhoilsiú an phlean thábhachtach seo don Chumann Lúthchleas Gael.

In our 125-year history, the Gaelic Athletic Association has come a long way. It is accepted as one of the great amateur sporting associations in the world today. It is part of the Irish consciousness and plays an influential role in Irish society that extends far beyond our basic aim of promoting Gaelic games.

Throughout the history of the Association, we have always reflected the society in which we operate. Our role in Irish society has changed in many ways in that time. From our formative years, as well as the on-field success of our two main sports, we have developed into a key social and cultural institution. We provide leadership within the community we serve and we improve the lives of those we come into contact with.

The main objective of this Strategic Plan is to make sure we continue to appropriately and effectively serve our members, supporters and the broader community that sustains us. I believe this plan offers a blueprint for our future and addresses the key issues facing the GAA over the next seven years.

I want to pay tribute to an tArd Stiúrthóir, Páraic Ó Dufaigh, who made the plan his priority when he took on his new role as Ard Stiúrthóir of the Association. Many hours of hard work and consultation with literally thousands of our members and key influencers have led us to this point. We hope we have listened well and taken on board, in the proper manner, the many contributions you have made over the last seven or eight months.

The plan identifies a series of challenges that face the Association. We are meeting these challenges with leadership, creativity and energy. We are turning these challenges into opportunities for the GAA. We will continue to grow and serve Irish society and communities abroad in the effective and positive way that has characterised the Association’s development up to now.

We are continuing our ongoing work in key areas such as player welfare, developing our IT systems, improving facilities like our centres of excellence around the country and developing our games in schools.

Our players of all ages and abilities are our main priority. Right through the planning process we focused on the best interests of players and members. The plan will get more players involved and provide an environment that ensures players stay with our games for life.

Some of the areas addressed in the plan are:

• continuing to develop as an amateur organisation;
• providing a better player experience from child to adult;
• improving facilities for all our players;
• improving structures for all our players;
• ensuring appropriate financial management and governance;
• growing participation in urban areas and responding to population decline in rural areas;
• child protection;
• codes of conduct; and
• quality of coaching.

During my time as Uachtarán we have worked with players to develop a common understanding that serves the best interests of the Association. This work is ongoing and I am confident that during 2009 we will have a structure that allows the entire organisation to flourish.

We have always shown ourselves to be willing and prepared to adapt to change. I urge our officers at national, Provincial, County and club level to give due consideration to the vision for the future that we describe in this strategy. We sincerely believe that successfully putting these proposals in place is in the general and overall best interest of the Association. It will allow us to provide a better GAA and a better Ireland, not only for the current generation but for those yet to come.

One of my main priorities since I became Ard Stiúrthóir of Cumann Lúthchleas Gael last February, has been to develop a Strategic Plan. This document is the culmination of countless days and hours of effort from a huge range of people. From the outset, we adopted a bottom-up approach. We consulted widely with members, players, officials, referees, supporters and others at all levels of the organisation and across the broad spectrum of Irish society.

We wanted to make sure that the views of our volunteers would be the main influence when we drew up this plan.

It has been a lengthy, but enjoyable process. We discovered an Association that remains strong on the ground, a membership fiercely proud of their Association and keen to build on its current momentum. Along the way, we also discovered many issues and challenges. Most of all, however, we discovered that the passion, belief and commitment that has characterised the Association throughout its long history is still alive and well.

One of the most informative aspects of the entire process was the Club Forum earlier in the year. At the forum we developed a clear understanding of the opinions of those who worked on a daily basis in clubs the length and breadth of the country. The forum successfully highlighted the key issues and challenges faced by our clubs. While few of the issues raised at the forum surprised us, one message was clear – when developing national policy we needed to give more consideration to the needs of our clubs and how putting the policy into action would affect them.

The views of all the different groups contributed equally to the final document and they included those involved in:

- games development;
- coaching;
- playing;
- marketing;
- communications;
- finance;
- education;
- associate organisations;
- other community groups; and
- many others.

The task of pulling all of this information together and developing a plan for the future fell to Paul O’Kelly and Peter Hanan. They have shown incredible dedication to the project and I want to record my sincere thanks to them for helping us to reach this point. There are simply too many in the broader Association to mention, but to all those who gave their time at the planning stages, at seminars, throughout the research process and at all the different points along the way, I extend my thanks.
In many respects, however, the real work is only beginning. The challenge now is for us all to put the plan in place in a way that:

• cements our position as the leading community-based organisation in Ireland and develops the Association in overseas communities;
• maintains Gaelic sports and activities as an attractive proposition for all; and
• ensure we have a strong base for the next generation to build from.

Successfully carrying out this plan will mean we preserve the unique culture and heritage of Cumann Lúthchleas Gael and allow it to adapt and flourish within the changing and challenging environment of modern Ireland and within communities overseas.

I believe we have delivered a cohesive, innovative and achievable plan for the Association that takes stock of where we are at the moment, identifies where we would like to be in seven years time and charts a course for us to achieve just that.

Páraic Ó Dufaigh
Ard Stiúrthóir
It gives me great pleasure to write an introduction to this Strategic Plan for our Association. I am delighted with the process used to create this plan. It was developed by thousands of volunteers. It is the true voice of all our members and their vision for the future. I look forward with enthusiasm to playing my role in putting this plan in place during my Presidency.

This 2009-2015 Plan builds on the experience of the 2002 Strategic Review in which I took an active role. It is visionary, practical and will enable us to measure our performance and be clearly accountable for it. This plan identifies key focus areas. Each focus area details clear roles and measures of success for clubs, Counties, Provinces and national level.

Whilst we are the number one sporting and cultural organisation in the country with a growing international presence, we face challenges that we believe are addressed in the Plan.

Over the past 125 years the GAA has taken a leadership role in our society. The passion and commitment of our members and clubs has contributed to the growth and development and sense of identity of communities. This plan builds on these strengths and identifies opportunities to build our presence and contribution.

The success of the Plan is in all our hands. Members and officers at each level in the organisation have their part to play; their work will be supported by the small dedicated full-time team we have in the Counties, Provinces and Croke Park. I can assure you that I will work tirelessly with the Ard Stiúrthóir, Páraic Ó Dufaigh, to make sure that you can maximise your contribution when addressing the goals and objectives contained in the Plan.

In the first year of my Presidency, we will launch the Annual Volunteers Forum. We will put in place a process to address the issues surrounding the amateur status and implement a clear framework to maintain it at the core of the Association.

The Plan will be reviewed on an ongoing annual basis at all levels. At our Annual Volunteers Forum we will listen to your views on how the Association is progressing and review and adapt our plans to meet emerging needs. The role of our volunteers and our amateur status has been key to the success of our Association.

We are all proud of our Association and the positive impact it has in Irish and overseas communities. It delivers tremendous satisfaction to all of us whether we are playing our games or supporting our activities as volunteers.

We all have a responsibility to continue to build on the contributions and energy of our members over the last 125 years. This Plan is a framework that allows us to deliver continued success for the Association over the next seven years and to deliver the potential for the generations to come.

I wish to thank you in anticipation of your help in the successful execution of this plan. It is not a plan for the Uachtarán or for the Ard Stiúrthóir, it is for each member and indeed future members, of the Association. You will all have the opportunity to play your part in developing an Association that will deliver on our expectations and dreams for the future.

Methodology

The brief for the strategic planning process was clear. The Association wanted a plan that would be developed by its members and would allow it to grow over the next seven years.

The plan would:
• be constructed around the values and traditions of the Association;
• be volunteer-led;
• be managed with excellence;
• maximise participation in each unit;
• maximise participation in the communities the Association serves;
• provide a roadmap for the Association for the future.

The GAA is a key part of Irish society. Increasingly, it is becoming a global sporting organisation that provides enjoyment and entertainment to people at home in Ireland and overseas. The plan will build on the strengths and successes of the organisation.

The planning team identified the immediate and potential challenges that the organisation would face. When completed the plan would be clear, practical and ready to put in place. The plan will build on the strengths and successes of the organisation.

A steering group representing a cross section of the Association acted as an advisory team to the process and added value, inputs and encouragement throughout the project. The group comprised:
1. Nioclás Ó Braonáin
2. Páraic Ó Dufaigh
3. Criostóir Ó Cuana
4. Conchúir Ó hOgáin
5. Brian Ó Donnacháin
6. Ciárán Ó Líodháin
7. Pádraig Ó Dalaigh
8. Feargal Mac Giolla
9. Tomás Ó Riain
10. Diarmuid de Paor
11. Searbh Ó Flannagáin
12. Róin Ó Fiannaí
13. Tadhg de Flóid
14. Seán Ó Tóibín

The process began with listening to members of clubs from every County. In February 2008, a Club Forum was held at Croke Park in which more than 300 volunteer members took part. The forum, in workshop format, included members from the following areas:
• Rural clubs;
• Urban clubs;
• Under 25s;
• Provincial Councils;
• Primary schools;
• Second-level schools;
• County boards;
• Third-level education groups;
• Handball;
• Rounders;
• Ladies’ Football;
• Camogie;
• Bórd na nÓg;
• Coaches; and
• Scór.

More than 30% of those taking part were female. Some were members of the Association for only a short time, whilst others had more than 50 years’ involvement in the GAA.

There were players and former players, coaches, teachers, students and many were at their first national GAA meeting.

Working in small groups, the teams shared stories of their experiences of the GAA in every aspect of their lives, on and off the field. Through this listening process the forum developed a deeper understanding of what was important for people and what the GAA was really about.

The forum also asked people to describe the ideal GAA club of the future. As part of this exercise, those taking part contacted people from around Ireland and in more than 20 countries worldwide to ask them what they would like to see in their ideal club. All the ideas and dreams and aspirations were recorded, and included later in the thinking and planning process.

Additional meetings were held in each Province where the team gathered the views and aspirations of club, County and Provincial officers. This brought a wealth of further insights into the needs of clubs, Counties and Provinces and their definitions of success at each level.
Workshops, meetings and interviews were held with a wide range of groups and individuals representing members and non-members. These included:

- volunteer administrators;
- players;
- non-traditional GAA communities;
- club, County, school and college coaches;
- team managers;
- referees;
- GAA staff;
- newcomer groups from more than 20 countries;
- schools; and
- media.

The consultation process included discussions with local authorities and Government departments in both jurisdictions on the island, Government Ministers, sponsors and other national sports and cultural organisations.

As the work proceeded, common themes began to emerge. The output from the workshops included specific details on how the members and officers believed the performance of the GAA should be measured in future.
In the planning and design phase, a group of 40 people took part in a two-day workshop. This strategic planning team comprised people from every Province and included members, national and Provincial officers, full-time officials and volunteers. They had a broad range of experience from many walks of life.

Those taking part invested substantial time in understanding the outputs from the meetings and workshops, including every word from the Club Forum.

The group also had the benefit of the excellent research work completed by the Brand Union (international branding specialists) who recently developed the new GAA branding programme.

Within this workshop environment the group developed a vision for the GAA of the future. From this they identified key themes that could significantly improve the day-to-day performance of the GAA at all levels and deliver on the strategic goals.

A number of people from the workshop were chosen to lead small expert groups to build the strategic themes. These groups compromised additional volunteers who were invited to join the process and bring a broader experience and knowledge to the project. These volunteers were recruited on the basis of their expertise and experience in specific areas.

The expert groups focused on delivering challenging outcomes for the Association. Each team focused on outcomes that were measurable, accountable and had clear milestones. The role of clubs, Counties and Provinces were clear; the resources required for success were understood. Eleven themes emerged as the focus areas for the plan; these are outlined in detail in this document. They will be reviewed annually against the targets defined and will be refined and developed. Other areas will emerge and be included as the planning process evolves.

Several committees in the GAA already have excellent project plans under way. The strategic plan is designed to include those projects. A list of some of these project plans and initiatives is outlined in the appendix.

A key outcome from the process is that the GAA has decided to keep on using this strategic planning methodology in its future planning.

The methodology is simple. It is based on consulting the membership at all levels and enabling them to develop the plans of the Association for the future. The strategic planning process captured the experiences, views, ideas and dreams of more than 8,000 members and key audiences. The people who are the GAA developed this strategic plan.
The GAA’s values are the heart and soul of our Association. In every club around the world they are what binds us, what makes us unique and what attracts more and more players, members, volunteers and supporters.

We need all our members and key audiences to fully understand our values. We will use them to guide our planning and decision making and behaviours. They will guide us in how we interact with one another and with the GAA’s diverse set of stakeholders.

The GAA’s core values and leadership principles have been handed down over the last 125 years and are expressed clearly for today’s world. They guide the attitudes and behaviours we display to one another as members, players at all levels, officers, full time staff and key audiences.

By living in accordance with these values, the GAA will continue to grow a culture that is unique. This dynamic culture brings wonderful satisfaction to all involved. It draws people to us and enables us to bring life, energy and identity to the communities we serve.

Mission

“The GAA is a community based volunteer organisation promoting Gaelic games, culture and lifelong participation.”

The GAA is a volunteer organisation. We develop and promote Gaelic games at the core of Irish identity and culture.

We are dedicated to ensuring that our family of games, and the values we live, enrich the lives of our members, families and the communities we serve.

We are committed to active lifelong participation for all and to providing the best facilities.

We reach out to and include all members of our society. We promote individual development and well-being and strive to enable all our members achieve their full potential in their chosen roles.

Vision

Our vision is that everybody has the opportunity to be welcomed to take part in our games and culture, to participate fully, to grow and develop and to be inspired to keep a lifelong engagement with our Association.

Enhancing Our Players’ Experience

During the development of this plan, a key objective has been the enhancement of the experience of all our players within the Association.

The needs of our players change over time. The Association provides for the child who participates in the local club and school for the first time and at each stage thereafter provides opportunities for players to reach their full potential. Later, many players move into team mentoring, administration, refereeing, coaching or take some other volunteer role in the Association.

The initiatives contained in the plan that will enhance the playing experience include:

Player Welfare – The Association is committed to continue to develop and expand support for all our players through:
- Support for injured players through the Player Injury Scheme;
- Educational programmes on nutrition and injury prevention;
- Health and wellbeing initiatives with third level institutions; and
- Maintaining website resource on player welfare matters.

These initiatives are outlined in particular in the Volunteer section of the plan.

Research – Through the Medical, Scientific and Welfare Committee, the Association will learn from the latest research and develop best practice. Areas of focus will include:
- Injury prevention and recovery programmes;
- Best practice for training and team preparation for players, coaches and mentors; and
- Health and Welfare research.

A GAA research group will be set up to support and initiate research on games development and other topics. This initiative is outlined in the Games Development section.

Games Schedule – The area of games scheduling and fixtures management is a key priority for the Association. Our aim is to provide all our players with an appropriate programme and schedule of games. A specific section is devoted to this objective in the plan, under the Games Schedule section.

Facilities and Infrastructure – We have a strong record in providing the best facilities for all our players and members. The commitment contained in the Planning section commits to the delivery of centres of excellence around the country. These centres will provide “Best in Class” facilities for our players at all levels.

Coaching Standards – The Association will continue to develop the competencies and techniques of our coaches at all levels in the Association. A comprehensive plan will see coaches at club, school and County levels certified to international standards over the duration of the plan. This is outlined in the Games Development section of the plan.

Code of Best Practice – All our players, members, supporters and officials deserve to be treated with respect. The Association will introduce a Code of Best Practice that will ensure that transparent standards of behaviours are in place in each unit within the Association. As part of the process we will develop best practice standards for child protection, anti sectarianism and anti racism that will provide a safe and welcoming environment for all our players. These initiatives are outlined in the Inclusion and Integration Section and the Games Development sections of the plan.

Communicating with our Players – The GAA is fully committed to enhancing the experiences of all our members and we will continue to develop appropriate consultative processes with players at all levels to ensure that their views are reflected in the development of Association policy.

Volunteers

Our aim: We will continue to value and encourage our volunteers

In 2016 we will be able to say: “Our amateur ethos continues to be at the heart of our Association. We have attracted talented volunteers at all levels within the Association and we recognise how important it is to encourage and support them. Their work keeps the GAA at the centre of the community. Our training programmes attract and retain volunteers by providing a clear education path that allows them to progress according to their ability. We have trained all volunteers and helped them to develop their skills.”

Key project: Annual Volunteers’ Forum

We will invite volunteers from club units all over the country to an Annual Volunteers’ Forum that will focus on how important their work is to the Association. This forum will discuss:

- what resources volunteers need to maximise their contribution;
- best practice on recruiting, retaining and educating volunteers;
- how to develop our skills; and
- tools to celebrate excellence.

Volunteers will also communicate with the leadership team on:

- the progress of the Association;
- areas for further development in the Association; and
- their ideas to improve the impact volunteers make in the Association.

Related projects

New volunteer recognition programme
We will develop a new national volunteer recognition programme to celebrate the contribution of our volunteer heroes in the Association.

Player welfare
The Association will continue to take the lead in the area of player welfare by working with players at club and inter-County levels in the Association to address their changing needs over the seven years of the Plan. This will include areas such as:

- support for injured players;
- health and wellbeing initiatives;
- education programmes; and
- Player website resource.

The GAA Strategic Vision and Action Plan 2009-2015

20
The GAA Strategic Vision and Action Plan 2009-2015

Key project:
Training. We have trained all volunteers and helped them to develop their skills.

Community engagement:
By providing a clear education path that allows them to progress according to their ability. We have trained all volunteers and helped them to develop their skills.

Volunteer commitment:
Our amateur ethos continues to be at the heart of our Association. We have attracted talented volunteers at all levels within the Association and we recognise how important it is to encourage and support them. Their work keeps the GAA at the centre of the community. Our training programmes attract and retain volunteers.

Volunteer role:
Volunteers are the backbone of the GAA. They ensure that our clubs and counties have the necessary structures to operate at the highest level. Their role is critical to the success of our Association.

Volunteer forum:
We will continue to develop and introduce education modules for each discipline that volunteers cover in the Association.

Volunteer engagement:
One-year volunteer commitment scheme
We will develop a one-year volunteer commitment scheme. In this agreement, former players can commit to volunteering for at least one-year in recognition of the satisfaction they enjoyed by playing with the club. This is open to all other club members.

Volunteer recruitment toolkit:
We will develop a club ‘Recruitment toolkit’ that will help to promote club roles and attract the most suitable candidates.

Education modules:
We will continue to develop and introduce education modules for each discipline that volunteers cover in the Association.

Training workshops:
Annual Volunteer Forum
We will continue to value and encourage our volunteers and their work keeps the GAA at the centre of the community.

Volunteer engagement:
We will develop a one-year volunteer commitment scheme. In this agreement, former players can commit to volunteering for at least one-year in recognition of the satisfaction they enjoyed by playing with the club. This is open to all other club members.

Volunteer recruitment toolkit:
We will develop a club ‘Recruitment toolkit’ that will help to promote club roles and attract the most suitable candidates.

Review officer structure:
We will review the club officer structure to:
- find out if the current structures are suitable to meet the changing needs of the club;
- make sure that no-one is overwhelmed by their role; and
- reduce the chance of one role duplicating another.

Spending in supporting Games development in the schools/Clubs/Counties over the last number of years – This supports the work of the Volunteers and full time staff engaged in coaching at all levels in the County, supporting the Club school link, training of volunteers and the development of Academy and high performance squads in each County.
Urbanisation

Our aim: Increase number of active players and volunteers

By 2016 we will be able to say: “We have increased the numbers of players and volunteers active in clubs and schools in urban areas by 20% over the period of the plan. We have done this by putting in place initiatives that promote the club as the centre of the community. A dedicated national committee is responsible for achieving the targeted results in each area.”

Key project: National Urban Development Plan

We will set up a national committee to develop and put in place a National Urban Development Plan.

Steering groups
We will set up accountable Provincial and County steering groups to oversee the implementation of the plan.

Four urban groups
We will launch urban development initiatives within four specific groups:

- Group 1, population of more than 100,000 – ‘Major urban development project area’;
- Group 2, population of more than 50,000 – ‘High priority development project area’;
- Group 3, population of more than 30,000 – ‘Priority development area’; and
- Group 4, population of less than 30,000 – ‘Urban development project area’.

Related projects

- Volunteer training: We will develop a specific training programme for volunteers who will oversee the urban development project in each area.
- GAA identity: We will develop a specific GAA identity for each urban area to promote the idea of ‘place’.
- Club boundaries: We will develop guidelines to establish clear club boundaries in each urban development area.

How urban services will be developed around the country

Area of excellence
In 2002, The Ulster Council of the GAA and the Derry County Committee embarked on an ambitious project to develop Gaelic games in the Derry City urban area, supported by Derry City Council. This project has focused on a regeneration of six existing clubs in the urban City area as well as assisting the three rural based clubs in the City Council area. The project has centred on the development of modern playing facilities and new coaching programmes in clubs and schools. The results of this urban area development initiative are very encouraging.
area. In certain rural areas, we will adapt our structures to address the difficulties associated with a reduction of the population.

Centres of Excellence: We will develop GAA Centres of Excellence in priority urban areas.

Recreational games: We will roll out the GAA recreational games and promote them to all age groups.

Development squad: We will set up development squads in targeted areas.

Club structures: We will review club structures with County committees to change appropriate bye-laws so that they deliver a flexible club structure.

Community day: We will organise an annual ‘youth-family-community day’ at the main ground in each urban area.

Government agencies: We will work with Government agencies in conjunction with the ‘Rapid Programme’ and neighbourhood renewal programmes to develop the best approach for each unique opportunity in an urban area.

Dublin – Targeted Growth in the Number of Teams in Dublin Ages 8–16 between 2003–2013

- 2003: 619
- 2008: 1,300
- 2013: 1,438

The Dublin County Board in conjunction with clubs and its Games Development personnel have a detailed targeted plan for each age group in the capital. This will see greater numbers participating at each age group in the County – This is the target for the growth of the number of teams in the 8 to 16 age group.
Games Schedule

Our aim: High quality fixtures planning

In 2016 we will be able to say:
“All units at all levels provide a coordinated programme of meaningful games for players, appropriate to their needs and abilities. All games are regulated so that players experience fair play and can take part in well-planned and scheduled games as part of a balanced lifestyle. We have in place a locally effective and efficient, nationally co-ordinated, fixtures planning system.”

Key project: Fixtures planning

Committee: we will appoint a National Fixtures Planning Committee (NFPC).

Three-year plan: We will put in place a three-year rolling National Fixtures Plan.

Fixtures planners: We will recruit and train volunteer fixtures planners at all levels of the Association. They will plan and monitor fixtures plans in all units.

Schools: We will work with groups within primary, second-level and third-level educational areas to ensure their fixtures programmes are balanced with the programmes of other GAA units.

Referees: We will develop a national plan to facilitate the recruitment, training and ongoing assessment of referees for all levels within the Association.

Cúl Camp participants

Since the 1980s boys and girls have enjoyed playing Gaelic games in summer camps throughout the country. Building on the enormous success of these local initiatives, the GAA has taken the concept one step further with the creation of Cúl Camps. A nationally co-ordinated programme, Cúl Camps encourage children to learn and develop sporting and life-skills by participating in Gaelic games, in a fun, non-competitive environment. In 2008, over 80,000 children participated in these camps across the country.
Inter-County: We will provide a structured games programme at inter-County level so that club fixtures can take place within the agreed calendar.

Report for Congress: We will produce a national fixtures report for Annual Congress. It will include fixtures reports from the 32 Counties and the four Provinces.

Track success: Each unit will build a reporting, monitoring and planning system. It will:
• track the success of the fixtures plan;
• compare performance against agreed national standards; and
• put in place clear plans to continuously raise standards.

Measure satisfaction: We will measure how satisfied players, coaches and mentors are with fixtures scheduling.

Games Development

Our aim: Games for everybody

In 2016 we will be able to say: “Every player in the country has the opportunity to play meaningful games in an informal, safe and enjoyable environment.”

Key project: Enhancing and integrating games activities for the benefit of all participants

Focus on participation in clubs and schools
Modified small-sided games, known as ‘Go Games’, will be adopted as best practice up to and including 12 years of age. This will mean that all children under 12 will get meaningful playing time to develop the skills of our games in a challenging and fun environment.

Harmonise games development
We will harmonise games development and fixtures up to and including minor level to ensure a more balanced games programme.

Player Pathway
We will develop a players’ and games pathway from child to adult. It will promote full participation and encourage players to take part in the long term. We will design it so that it provides an appropriate games programme for players at all levels.

Code of Best Practice
We will put in place the GAA’s Code of Best Practice for Youth Sport, incorporating a code of conduct that shows respect for fellow players, mentors and match officials. Best practice will also be developed in the recruitment and selection of those working with our underage players. This will comply with the appropriate legislation requirements and guidelines in jurisdictions in which we operate.

The GAA Strategic Vision and Action Plan 2009-2015

Respect Initiative
We will introduce a detailed initiative to promote respect and discipline for players towards match officials and each other.

Qualified coaches
We will put in place a programme that makes sure every player is coached by a person qualified to the appropriate level.

Research group
We will set up a GAA research group to support and initiate research on games development and other topics. This will make sure that we continue to deliver ‘best-in-class’ educational programmes to our volunteers.

Second Level Schools
The Association will develop a comprehensive plan to assist the further development of Gaelic games in second level schools and colleges.

Recreational Games
We will develop and implement a programme of recreational games for youth and adult players.

Communications

Our aim: Effective internal and external communication

In 2016 we will be able to say:
“We communicate effectively with our members and officers. This gives us a strong sense of common ownership, individual responsibility and a sense of pride. Communication is everyone’s responsibility. We use the latest technology to communicate quickly and efficiently with our members.”

Key projects: Develop communications plan

Structure
We will give members the information they need to champion Gaelic games and to encourage people to take part in the Association.

We will set up structured and effective communication at all levels by:
• supporting our volunteers and administrators through our network;
• training our spokespeople;
• understanding the communities we serve;
• being accessible and understood by all our key audiences; and
• developing excellent relationships with the media.

Communicate well with our audience
To make sure, we communicate well with our audience we will:
• assess our communications structure;
• identify the best way to communicate at all levels;
• ask our key audiences what information they need;
• make sure we use best practice; and
• develop a communications plan.

Give consistent message
We will try to ensure that officers representing the Association deliver consistent messages about:
• who we are;
• what our values are; and
• what our aims for the future are.

Funding Opportunities

Our aim: Work with commercial partners for benefit of members

In 2016 we will be able to say:
“We give all GAA units the incentive to locate, present and promote our games so that they maximise the numbers who attend all league, championship and other fixtures. While we continue to keep our voluntary and amateur values, we work with our commercial partners in a completely professional way. For the benefit of the members of the Association, we make the most of the revenue we earn from our partners. We do this while maintaining the integrity of our games and delivering value to our sponsors, third parties, Government organisations and all stakeholders.”

Key project: Nominate project manager

We will nominate a project manager in Croke Park to handle our relationship with all Government and third-party agencies.

Funding plan
The project manager will advise on all submissions from the national, Provincial and County units to Government and third-party agencies.

Funding templates
The project manager will develop templates for all units. This will provide guidance on the best way to gain access to funds available from Government and third-party agencies.

Promoting attendances
We will develop a clear chain of responsibility for promoting attendances at games at Provincial, County and club levels. We will measure satisfaction levels from members and spectators and maximise the revenues for each unit.

Financial Excellence

Our aim: Build on existing financial excellence

In 2016 we will be able to say:
“As Ireland’s foremost sporting and cultural organisation the GAA has become a byword for best-in-class financial management. We are a volunteer-led organisation and set standards that compare favourably with the top 100 companies in Ireland. The Association’s financial excellence has been at the core of our growth and success. We are continuing to develop skills, practices and structures.”

Key project: Financial management and financial excellence

Our key project focuses on two main areas:
• financial management; and
• financial excellence.

Governance
We make sure that all units comply with the highest accounting and financial regulatory standards. We do this by ensuring that we:
• have appropriate financial controls in each unit;
• always get value for money;
• protect our assets;
• have the appropriate resources to achieve our aims; and
• have clear lines of responsibility and accountability throughout the Association integrated with the role of the County treasurers and other officers.

Our principles
We are a non-profit organisation and we achieve financial excellence by:
• achieving the highest standards of any voluntary organisation;
• getting the best return for our investments;
• distributing resources fairly; and
• rewarding excellence.

We have designed our finance strategy to:
• unify financial planning and management throughout the Association;
• communicate our financial information clearly and transparently;
• provide our officers with the best possible resources; and
• deliver financial best practice.

Financial management

Training and development
We plan to underpin our national strategy with a robust network of voluntary finance officers. We will train and develop treasurers by running an

Quarterly Forum
We will hold a quarterly forum where we can:
• exchange knowledge about best practice; and
• develop skills.

Common standards
We will have common standards in place across the Association by:
• using standard software;
• using standard reporting systems;
• aligning audit dates and processes; and
• introducing common budgeting processes.

Financial excellence

Merit-based funding
There will be base-level funding in all areas. Funding will also be merit-based and linked to standards the unit achieves.

Key performance indicators
We will build key performance indicators (KPIs) at all levels. They will measure the performance of:
• units;
• strategic initiatives;
• projects; and
• all Croke Park administrative departments.

performance is the means by which we secure the resources to pursue the Association’s aims. In 2007 Central Council generated revenues of €65m and reinvested three quarters of that sum directly within the association – in coaching, clubs, facilities, and communities. Our financial strategy will aim to embed best financial practice throughout the organisation, and thereby deliver successively higher financial returns. We will achieve this by providing the best structures and tools to enable our units and volunteer officers to excel, thereby underpinning the delivery of the overall strategic plan.
Inclusion and Integration

Our aim: Offer inclusive and welcoming environment for everyone

In 2016 we will be able to say:
“We have an outstanding reputation for attracting and retaining members from all sections of the community. We welcome people of all nationalities, religions, ages and abilities into our Association and we make it easy for everyone to take part. We champion equality within the Irish sporting landscape and communities overseas. We work with the GAA family to make sure that we offer an inclusive and welcoming environment for everyone. The Association represented by the Ulster Council promotes links with the Unionist members of our community.”

Key project: Appoint dedicated inclusion and integration officer

We will employ a dedicated officer (supported by the Department of Integration) to promote best practice in the area of inclusion within our units. This officer will be shared with the other members of the GAA and Ladies’ Football and Camogie.

Role of Inclusion Officer
The Inclusion Officer will be responsible for working with each organisation in the GAA family to carry out the inclusion strategy. The Ulster Provincial Director and Community Development Manager are responsible for engagement with the Unionist Community.

Inclusion strategy
We will launch an inclusion strategy in conjunction with the Strategic Plan in 2009. It will outline our series of dedicated initiatives that will deliver best practice in inclusion excellence.

The Association will move from its current non sectarian policy to an anti sectarian policy. The Association is also anti racist.

Area of excellence: Scoil Eoin in Gort, Co Galway has grown and prospered as a consequence of the arrival of a large Brazilian Community into the town. The school has a large proportion of its population composed of the children of this community.

Gaelic Games are a core component of the sporting curriculum in the school and the newcomer children have embraced the games enthusiastically. As part of their studies the Brazilian children write a report on the GAA matches they have played in using the school...
Media
We will develop a communication strategy aimed at newcomers to Ireland.

Camogie and Ladies’ Football
We will continue to work closely with Camogie and Ladies’ Football to the mutual benefit of all games.

Welcome pack
We will produce a welcome pack and DVD for clubs and schools that give a basic introduction to GAA Games. This will be translated into five of the most common languages for newcomers to Ireland.

Update manual
We will update the club manual in all our organisations to reflect best practice in the area of inclusion.

New games formats
The Inclusion Officer will work with the national coaching and games team to develop and promote new games formats. These will be attractive to people with a disability and encourage them to take part.

Ulster
In Ulster, the Association will establish cross-community hurling and football teams, urban focused cross-community Gaelic games camps, and continue to develop links with the Unionist community.

Diversity training
Diversity training will become a standard component of all coaching programmes for volunteer officers, coaching and games personnel.

computers, in their own native language, Portuguese. These reports are then uploaded onto the school website and are accessed and read by the children’s Parents and grandparents in Ireland and Brazil. This gives the parents and grandparents an insight into the GAA, and provides an overview of how the games work.

In co-operation with the GAA the school website is being used to share local match reports with family in Brazil.

A pilot programme to facilitate greater participation of the Brazilian community in the Gort GAA Club is currently in place, this has been funded by Croke Park, Galway County Board and the Gort Club.
Club, Culture and Community

Our aim: Keep and strengthen our links with all communities

By 2016 we will be able to say:
“The heart of the GAA is club, culture and the community. We have attracted and retained active players, members and volunteers from all communities in our society. The GAA is recognised as the leading organisation for providing voluntary activity and events for families and communities. The Association’s core values and ethos are understood and help to hold society together in an ever-changing world.”

Key project: Expand role of cultural officers

The role of cultural officers will expand. Their role and responsibility will be redefined and will focus on community liaison.

We will promote family and community activities as being at the heart of the Association.

Variety of events

There will be a rich and varied schedule of events at GAA clubs for all families and communities.

Clear identity

Everyone in the GAA will know about our cultural and community officers and what they do.

Awareness

The cultural and community officers will assemble and distribute appropriate cultural awareness materials.

Planning

Our aim: Build existing planning skills

In 2016 we will be able to say:
“We have plans in place at club, County, Provincial and national level. We have increased our ability to respond to new challenges and we have grown rapidly internationally. We are introducing new initiatives to increase our already extensive planning skills.”

Key project: National Strategic Plan

The development of a Strategic Plan is the cornerstone of our planning process.

National planning group
We will set up a national planning group that will oversee the execution of the Strategic Plan. We will carry out reviews to make sure we are meeting our targets; and an annual review to assess, review and update our plans as needed.

Amateur status
A process will be put in place to develop a framework on reinforcing amateur status.

Targets
We will translate the goals outlined in the Strategic Plan into initiatives and targets at club, County and Provincial units of the organisation.

Wide involvement
Our planning process will involve our members, stakeholders and potential stakeholders at every level.

National goals
The goals and objectives set at all levels will be integrated into the national planning process and the national-based funding system.

Related projects

Training
We will train facilitators at each level in the organisation on how to plan effectively. They will be responsible for the planning in their unit.

GAA Strategic Infrastructure Initiative
The Association is engaging in an ambitious initiative to develop a network of ‘Centres of Excellence’ around the country. These centres will comprise of natural grass, synthetic grass playing pitches, floodlights and ancillary facilities which will serve the needs of County teams, development squads, clubs, schools and colleges. These centres will encourage and facilitate increased participation and be of great benefit to the playing of our club and school games and our recreational games.

GAA Strategic Infrastructure Initiative
Total expenditure: €39 million
- €29 million to be funded from Croke Park
- €10 million from the Counties/Provinces and other sources
These plans will include sections on, but will not be limited to:
• games development in clubs and schools;
• player welfare;
• referee development;
• communication, marketing & finance; and
• urban development and rural depopulation.

International units
The Association will work with the Department of Foreign Affairs to secure funding for the continued development of our overseas units.

We will ensure that each of our overseas units has a comprehensive strategy in place.

Association Infrastructure Framework
We will implement an integrated National Facilities Development Framework incorporating Provincial and County grounds, Regional and Urban Centres and County Training Centres in order to meet the overall needs of the Association. The framework will provide a network of modern, safe and comfortable grounds, which will enhance the experience of all patrons attending our games. The framework will specify quality benchmarks in respect of facilities for spectators, players, team and match officials.

Support system
We will provide support to each unit to help them continuously improve their goals and achievements.

Information Technology
We will continue to roll out the GAA IT strategy. This will give us the information on activity we need to enable continued planning.

Officer Support

Our aim: Deliver and monitor high-quality service to our officers

In 2016 we will be able to say: “At national level we operate an efficient service centre for our clubs, Counties and Provinces. Our officer services centre is easily accessible and we deal with all queries efficiently and promptly. We encourage feedback and input from our officers. The Croke Park support team monitors all output every day and guarantees to respond to your calls.”

Key project: Develop secure officers’ website

The Association will develop a secure intranet website (an intranet website is available only to a restricted group – in this case officers of the GAA). Different parts of the website will be available to the appropriate groups at club, County, and Provincial level.

Frequently asked questions
Our intranet will include a frequently asked questions (FAQs) section. This will give officers clear, precise and timely information. They will also be able to ask questions through the intranet when they need more information.

We will develop a wide range of FAQs on topics that include:
• club administration;
• infrastructure;
• planning;
• player welfare;
• Cultúr;
• coaching and games;
• human resources;
• officer training;
• marketing;
• insurance;
• finance;
• technology; and
• rules.

Croke Park personnel will compile the FAQs and update them every quarter as trends emerge about the type of questions officers ask.

The Association has launched a new online membership management system for clubs. This system allows clubs to register members, players and officers, generate team lists in Irish and communicate directly with members by text and email. This system will reduce administration time in clubs. Croke Park open day for officers

We will hold an open day for all Provincial and County officers in Croke Park. At this meeting we will:

- brief officers on the intranet website;
- introduce them to the Croke Park team; and
- listen to any additional requirements the officer group may have.

Officers’ website intranet forum

On our new intranet website, we will have a forum section where club and County officers can share information and best practices. The staff in Croke Park will facilitate this forum.

Phone-call monitoring

We will introduce a phone-call tracking system so that we can monitor our response to all calls from officers to the Croke Park team.

Key performance indicators

We will develop ‘Key performance indicators’ (KPIs) for the entire team in Croke Park and we will publish it four times a year. These will measure the quality of the service we give to our officers.

Our service to officers

We will develop a ‘value-for-money’ assessment that tracks our services to officers and takes account of feedback.

Club Maith: This is a certification programme for clubs and their volunteers who have demonstrated excellence in a wide range of criteria. It is independently set and assessed.

Cúl Camps: An organised camp for children aged between seven and 13. They are run by qualified coaches and usually held during the summer.

FAQs: A set of frequently asked questions that are the most popular questions asked on specific topics.

GAA family of games: This includes the four games promoted by the GAA: Gaelic Football, Hurling, Rounders and Handball; and Camogie and Ladies’ Football, the games promoted by its sister organisations.

GAA intranet: An internal website for GAA personnel only. It will give GAA officers access to a secure password-protected database that can answer their questions.

Go Games: Small sided skill development games for under 12’s.

GNP: Grassroots to National Programme. GAA games development strategy which aims to maximise participation and optimise playing standards.

Grassroots to National Programme (GNP): GAA Games Development Strategy which aims to maximise participation and optimise playing standards.

‘Have-a-go day’: A series of football and hurling recreational blitzes held for individuals or groups who have had little or no involvement in the GAA previously. These are held at club locations for newcomer or non-traditional communities.

Introductory Award: Basic coach education for beginner coaches for child, youth and adult players.

Neighbourhood Renewal: A Government incentive managed by the Department of Social Development that supports community development in urban areas of social disadvantage.

Outreach programme: A series of initiatives designed to build cross-community relationships and promote community cohesion. It is conducted by the Ulster Council.

Rapid programme: An Irish Government initiative that revitalises areas by planning investment and development (RAPID). It targets the 46 most disadvantaged areas in the country.

Scór: Initiatives and activities in which GAA members engage to promote Irish music, dancing and culture.

Supertouch 7s, 9s, 11s: Small sided skill development games for youth players.

Tri Gaeilge: Activities carried out through the Irish language.
Appendix

We have many well-formed, comprehensive strategies that meet our needs. In the new strategic planning process, we will review these annually against the objectives in the individual plans.

Some of the focus areas may be included in the revised Strategic Plan in the years ahead. The strategies in place already in the Association include but are not limited to the following.

- A strategy for the GAA in Britain 2007-2012: An Bhratach in Aire de sa Bhreatain, Flying the flag in Britain.
- Derry County GAA strategy: Fís Feasa.
- Cavan County GAA strategy: Fad-Radarcan Breffni.
- Donegal County GAA strategy: Meitheal Dhún na nGall.
- Belfast Urban GAA strategy: Belfast Rising: A plan for the GAA across Ireland’s Second City.
- Derry City Urban GAA strategy: Growing Mighty Oaks.
- Cumann na mBunscol 2007-2012 strategy: More than just child’s play.
- Croke Park Stadium Strategy.
- GAA player burnout and fixtures report.
- National infrastructure guidelines.
